

TECHNIQUES OF NARRATIVE THERAPY

1

PUTTING TOGETHER THE NARRATIVE

Allows the client to express their thoughts and explore events in their lives and the meanings they have placed on these experiences.

2

EXTERNALIZING THE PROBLEM

Leading clients towards viewing their problems or behaviors as external instead of an unchangeable part of themselves - they realize they themselves are not the problem.

3

DECONSTRUCTION

Working with the client to break down or deconstruct their stories into smaller, more manageable parts to clarify the problem.

4

UNIQUE OUTCOMES

This refers to the exceptions to the dominant story. Also known as 're-authoring' or 're-storying,' clients go through their experiences to find alterations to their story or make a whole new one.

Models Of Narrative:

Models of Narrative David K. Danow, 1997-01 When one reads Danow's work one grows eager to re-read the works he examines. Not only is his scholarship vast, his management of it is brilliant. Developing a theory of modeling, he develops a theory of knowing, an epistemology that has implications for any intellectual endeavor. His investigation of this important area of the humanities, moreover, is not removed from the life of humanity as is often the case with scholarly works. The linkage between the interest in literature and the interest in life is implicit throughout his book and at times is quite explicit. Danow teaches us not only how to better understand literature but how to better understand what is at stake in the study of it. David Patterson, Distinguished Professor of Russian Literature, University of Memphis.

Models of Narrative David K. Danow, 1996-12-15 The role of models in works of literature has been largely overlooked by literary scholars. Models of Narrative undertakes to focus on this often central role. In analyzing the concept and practice of literary modeling, Danow leads the reader on a search for order, patterns, and familiar concepts in literary works. Addressing a wide array of literary works by such luminaries as Dostoevsky, Tolstoy, Garcia Marquez, and Hawthorne, Danow examines these works in terms of narrative universals such as time, space, and speech. In addition, he distinguishes between theory and practice, treating the notion of literal and figural relations and offering concrete literary criticism.

Measurement Models as Narrative Structures. CSE Report 680 Robert J. Mislevy, Chun-Wei Huang, 2006 Advances in cognitive research increase the need for assessment that can address the processes and the strategies by which persons solve problems. Several psychometric models have been introduced to handle claims cast in information processing terms, explicitly modeling performance in terms of theory-based predictions of performance. Cognitively based item response theory (IRT) item response theory models incorporate features of items that influence persons' responses and relate these features to response probabilities. A number of these models are discussed in terms of the interplay between the formal characteristics of the probability models and the substantive narratives they support. Examples include the Linear Logistic Test Model, mixtures of IRT models, and multivariate structured IRT models. Contains 1 table and 7 figures.
