Improvement Bulletin, 1896      Another Modernism Anna Myjak-Pycia, 2025-06-12 Filling an important gap in design history Another Modernism examines how domestic space was conceived by the US home economics movement in the first half of the 20th century In doing so it tells the story of how home economists mainly women developed design that challenged the traditional architecture of American farm communities and countered the approach of modernist architects Uncovering unacknowledged contributions of women to domestic architecture and design history it reveals early instances of participation sustainability and accommodating the disabled body in domestic design In contrast to the canonical modernist model of space which is primarily visual home economists centered on a user who interacts with the interior in a tactile bodily way Although both strove for efficiency they understood it differently whereas for many of the mainstream modernists the term efficiency meant functionalist aesthetics for home economists it signified design solutions intended to ease the labor of an average American homemaker The book argues that the home economists focus on tactility the user's corporeality movement access preferences and her engagement in the design process constituted an alternative model of modern architecture a popular and largely rural modernism centered on the specificity of the female user and her personal experience of the domestic interior Based on little known archival material and with an emphasis on mostly female researchers designers and users occupants Another Modernism will appeal to architects design historians and anyone interested in gender women's and disability studies as well as non visual approaches to design      New Outlook, 1921

The Bystander, 1906      Midcentury Houses Today Lorenzo Ottaviani, Jeffrey Matz, Cristina A. Ross, 2014-10-21 Architects Philip Johnson Marcel Breuer Landis Gores Eliot Noyes Edward Durell Stone and others created an extraordinary collection of modern houses in New Canaan Connecticut in the 1940s and 1950s The bucolic New England town a suburb of Manhattan became the site of fervent experimentation by some of the leading lights of the movement in the United States the architects known as the Harvard Five whose modern aesthetic could be traced to the Bauhaus school of design There they promoted their core principles simplicity openness and sensitivity to site and nature and built glass wood steel and fieldstone houses that established architectural modernism as the ideal of domesticity in the twentieth century Architects Jeffrey Matz and Cristina A Ross photographer Michael Biondo and graphic designer Lorenzo Ottaviani present this vanishing generation of iconic American houses as more than an issue of restoration or preservation but as an evolving legacy that adapts to contemporary life Selecting a representative group of sixteen houses covering the period between the 1950s and 1978 they portray each one in great detail with floor plans timelines and both archival and luminous new photography from the clean minimalist look of the initial construction to subsequent additions by some of the most significant architects of our time including Toshiko Mori Roger Ferris and Joeb Moore Voices of the architects and builders original owners and current occupants combine to describe how the houses are enjoyed and lived in today and how the modernist residence is more than just a philosophy of design and construction but also a philosophy of living      Report New York (State).
