

12 Principles of Modern Learning

Modern Inquiry Learning

Principle	Reality	Opportunity
	The ability to save and retrieve information in a variety of formats...	gives modern learners virtually unlimited capacity to store and retrieve information.
	The ability to participate in more complex projects...	enables modern learners to participate in more complex projects.
	The ability to reuse and build upon the work of others...	enables modern learners to move beyond individual and isolated projects.
	The ability to quickly obtain feedback from multiple sources...	enables modern learners to continuously improve current work.

Modern Self Directed Learning

Principle	Reality	Opportunity
	The ability to generate large amounts of data about our technology-based activities...	enables modern learners to use self-generated data to assess and make decisions on future actions.
	The ability to view the learning artifacts of others...	enables modern learners to learn from what other learners are doing or have done.
	The ability to participate in virtually amplified online activities and events...	enables modern learners to easily identify new and important ideas and content.
	The ability to learn in the same communities as experts and professionals...	enables modern learners to make better decisions about their own learning.

Modern Social Learning

Principle	Reality	Opportunity
	The ability to access high quality content whenever and in whatever format needed...	enables modern learners to draw upon a diverse range of external resources.
	The ability to publish using a variety of media for low or no cost...	enables modern learners to share their ideas and get feedback from others.
	The ability to form learning networks...	enables modern learners to contrast ideas and experiences with other learners.
	The ability to form highly interconnected groups around an object of interest...	enables modern learners to engage in shared meaning making.
