Media Discourses:

Media Discourses Donald Matheson, 2005-09-16 Some of the most important questions regarding the relationship between media and culture are about communication How are the meanings which make up a culture shared in society How is power performed in the media What identities and relationships take shape there Media Discourses introduces readers to discourse analysis to show how media communication works Written in a lively style and drawing on examples from contemporary media it discusses what precisely gets represented in mediatexts who gets to do the talking what knowledge people need to share in order to understand the media and how power relations are reinforced or challenged Each chapter discusses a particular media genre including news advertising reality television and weblogs At the same time each chapter also introduces a range of approaches to media discourse from analysis of linguistic details to the rules of conversation and the discursive construction of selfhood A glossary explains key terms and suggestions for further reading are given at the end of each chapter This is a key text for media studies mass communication communication studies linguistics and journalism studies students

A Cross-Cultural Study of Commercial Media Discourses Wenhui Yang, 2020-10-20 This book decodes commercial news discourses from the perspective of cognitive semantics It attaches considerable importance to the bodily experientialism and linguistic embodiment advocated in discourse analysis and cognitive linguistics and explores the complex yet thought provoking correlation between overt language and covert cognition by focusing on contrastive analyses of metaphors image schemas and stance markers in texts On the basis of the analyses the author discusses the linguistic applications lexical devices and personal experiences along with their embodied mechanisms revealing the linguistic strategies embodied cognitive linguistic actions and constructive thoughts used in media discourses on product promotion human resources deployment and commodity problem resolution In turn this sheds light on how linguistic selections and cognitive mechanisms are used in composing media news and on how public cognition on certain social and business issues might be framed The combination of cognitive semantics and commercial discourse analysis offers comprehensive and rewarding insights into the cross cultural research of both cognitive actions and linguistic behavior reflected in news reports and highlights the correlation between the use of wording and cognitive construction in discourses which broadens the scope of discourse analysis cognitive linguistics applied linguistics and sociolinguistics Further the use of analytical measures and the effective integration of discourse analysis and cognitive semantics lend the book additional analytical authenticity providing an empirical foundation for cross cultural communication studies

The Representation of REFUGEES and MIGRANTS in European National Media Discourses from 2015 to 2017 Annamária Fábián, 2023-05-30 Though the refugee crisis was discussed in many countries e g in Greece Hungary Italy and Spain long before 2015 it began to receive cross European press coverage only after Angela Merkel's statement Wir schaffen das on the August 30th 2015 This data based study focuses on how journalists report on and leading politicians make statements about refugees migrants and asylum seekers in media and frame these humans after Angela Merkels sentence in 2015 until the end of 2017 This volume uses mainly Corpus Linguistics but also Communicative Science for the analysis of labelling strategies and the usage of words collocations and grammar systems used by journalists and politicians in different European countries in comparison This empirical volume pictures language specific variation and change of labels To enable a contrastive study between the press discourses of many European countries every chapter analyses the data consisting of newspaper articles describing the discourse of a particular country including discourses of some transit countries around the borders of the Schengen Area of the European Union which barely have been covered in other studies Poor News Steven Harkins,Jairo

Lugo-Ocando,2017-11-15 Poor News examines the way discourses of poverty are articulated in the news media by incorporating specific narratives and definers that bring about certain ideological worldviews This happens the authors claim because journalists and news editors make use of a set of information strategies while accessing certain sources within specific social and political dynamics The book looks at the case of the news media in Britain since the industrial revolution and produces a historical account of how these media discourses came into play The main thesis is that there have been different historical cycles that reflect particular hegemonic ideas of each period Consequently the role of mainstream journalism has been a subservient one for existing elites when it comes to the propagation of dominant ideas New Media

Discourses, Culture and Politics after the Arab Spring Eid Mohamed,Aziz Douai,2021-12-16 This book investigates the interplay between media politics religion and culture in shaping Arabs quest for more stable and democratic governance models in the aftermath of the Arab Spring uprisings It focuses on online mediated public debates specifically user comments on online Arab news sites and their potential to re engage citizens in politics Contributors systematically explore and critique these online communities and spaces in the context of the Arab uprisings with case studies largely centered on Egypt covering micro bloggers Islamic discourse online Libyan nationalism on Facebook and a computational assessment of online engagement among other topics Analysing Media Discourses John E. Discourse Mary Talbot,2007 A lively and accessible study of media and discourse CONTEMPORARY MEDIA DISCOURSES: TRENDS, ISSUES AND PROSPECTS Dr Kriti Singh,Dr Juhi P Pathak, Tracking the Media Subarno Chattarji,2009-03-09 This book is about media content analysis in the English language print media in South Asia with reference to certain contemporary issues It is written from the perspective of the need to analyze media discourses and the ways in which their circulation creates a common sense view of the world The focus is on English language papers and news magazines additionally some Hindi Urdu and Sindhi newspapers are examined The highlight is on the ways in which English language publications contribute to and function within middle class matrices of modernity consumption conflict and conservatism in India Analysing Representations of Social Media in European News Media Discourse Christine Develotte,Anthippi Potolia,Eija Suomela-Salmi,2021-11-01 This book explores representations of social media in European media discourses across different socio historical contexts demonstrating how such analysis can illuminate the tension between global and local in media discourses in today s globalised world The volume draws on data from a trilingual corpus from different editions of the free daily Metro from Finland France and Greece spanning a five year period with a focus on Facebook and Twitter Adopting a French discourse analysis approach which takes as its point of departure the notion of discourse as the social practice of representing the book integrates qualitative and quantitative analyses to investigate the social and political role depictions of social media play in specific socio historical contexts This approach brings to the fore both commonalities and differences in the popularity of specific platforms and coverage of specific news topics and hot button issues In so doing the volume elucidates the ways in which global practices become integrated and immersed into local contexts offering avenues for future research on social media in news discourses This book will be of interest to scholars in applied linguistics intercultural communication discourse analysis media studies and cultural studies

Discourse, Media, and Conflict Innocent Chiluwa,2022-04-28 Bringing together contributions from a team of international scholars this pioneering book applies theories and approaches from linguistics such as discourse analysis and pragmatics to analyse the media and online political discourses of both conflict and peace processes By analysing case studies as globally diverse as Germany the USA Nigeria Iraq Korea and Libya and across a range of genres such as TV news channels online reporting and traditional newspapers the chapters collectively show how news discourse can be powerful in mobilizing public support for war or violence or for conflict resolution through the linguistic representation of certain groups It explores the consequences of this framing effect and shows how peace journalism can be achieved through a non violent approach to reporting conflict It will therefore serve as an essential resource for students scholars and experts in media and communication studies conflict and peace studies international relations linguistics and political science Media and Politics Bettina Mottura,Letizia Osti,Giorgia Riboni,2018-04-18 Media and politics have always been mutually influential The media plays an important political role of its own in promoting and discussing policies as well as conveying representations of power and ideology On the other hand media outlets are themselves subject to political forces that have an impact on their editorial line This mutual influence comes to light not only in journalistic practices but also in how news is constructed and conveyed This volume explores the relations between politics and various types of media as expressed in different areas of the world namely Europe Asia the Americas and the Middle East Such a complex landscape calls for a multiplicity of analytical tools and cannot ignore specific socio political geographic linguistic and cultural contexts which may be overlooked when approached from a global perspective In this volume a combination of senior scholars and young experts from a wide range of disciplines such as discourse analysis international relations and cultural studies come together in a conversation which recognizes the media as a global phenomenon without neglecting its local specificities

Discourse Theory and

Cultural Analysis Nico Carpentier, Erik Spinoy, 2008 This book fills the gap between discourse theory and cultural approaches and provides an innovative and interdisciplinary contribution to areas such as cultural studies, political science, literary art, communication and media studies, the Internet and film studies. By strictly focusing on the discourse theory of Laclau and Mouffe, the authors have distilled a coherent volume out of a diversity of perspectives that offer important contributions to a wide range of academic discussions, fields and disciplines

The Discourse of Public Participation Media Joanna Thornborrow, 2014-11-20 The Discourse of Public Participation Media takes a fresh look at what ordinary people are doing on air, what they say and how and where they get to say it. Using techniques of discourse analysis to explore the construction of participant identities in a range of different public participation genres, Joanna Thornborrow argues that the role of the ordinary person in these media environments is frequently anything but. Tracing the development of discourses of public participation media, the book focusses particularly on the 1990s onwards when broadcasting was expanding rapidly, the rise of the TV talk show, increasing formats for public participation in broadcast debate and discussion, and the explosion of reality TV in the first decade of the 21st century. During this period traditional broadcasting has also had to move with the times and incorporate mobile and web based communication technologies as new platforms for public access and participation, text and email as well as the telephone, and an audience that moves out of the studio and into the online spaces of chat rooms, comment forums and the Twitterverse. This original study examines the shifting discourses of public engagement and participation resulting from these new forms of communication, making it an ideal companion for students of communication, media and cultural studies, media discourse, broadcast talk and social interaction.

Mass Mediated History. Media and the Rise of Nationalism and Xenophobia Francis Arackal Thummy, 2020-02-03 Academic Paper from the year 2020 in the subject Communications Media History, grade: NA, language: English, abstract: A journalist is basically a chronicler of events as they unfold. In the process he/she makes the first draft of history which history may come to the use of a professional historian to record the events objectively and bequeath to the future generations. New technologies have made journalist's task easy but the rise of media empires and the subsequent formation of culture industries have made his/her job complex at the same time. Since media empires or cultural industries are primarily driven by profit motive and a desire to set the agenda, economic, political, social, cultural, etc., journalists come under increasing pressures to compromise objectivity and truth. Accordingly, at times the mediated history that is produced in the newsroom is a distorted version of reality out there. This is especially so in times of conflict and war. Some media critics go on to the extent of saying that media is also a maker of war. Media assumes the self-appointed role of actors or agents in the events and processes which they purport only to be reporting. To that extent, the media themselves have had an impact on the course of historical events and been a significant ingredient in their development. This becomes evident when one considers carefully the major historical events of the twentieth and early twenty-first century.
