

Moving On

In this war we're always moving,
Moving on;
When we make a friend another friend has gone;
Should a woman's kindly face
Make us welcome for a space,
Then it's boot and saddle, boys, we're
Moving on.
In the hospitals they're moving,
Moving on;

They're here today, tomorrow they are gone;
When the bravest and the best
Of the boys you know "go west",
Then you're choking down your tears and Moving on.

Cloud Moving Hands Cathy Song, 2007-09-23 These poems threaded by the teachings of Buddha examine loss the death of a loved one the longing for a child the yearning for another place and time and the suffering such attempts transpire but ultimately the poems are an affirmation that to be born into human life is our greatest opportunity to transform loss and sorrow into awakening joy

Randomly Moving Particles Andrew

Motion, 2021-03-23 Randomly Moving Particles is built from two long poems that form its opening and close connected by three shorter pieces The title poem in a kaleidoscope of compelling scenes engages with subjects that include migration placement loss space exploration and current British and American politics It is a clarifying action and reaction between terra and solar system mundanity and possibility taking us from the grit of road surfaces to the distant glimpses of satellites The final poem How Do the Dead Walk combines mythic reach with acute observation of the familiar in order to address issues of contemporary violence It is altogether more dreamlike even in its tangibly military moments grasping as it does at phantoms and intermediate plains Andrew Motion's expansive new poetry collection is direct in its emotional appeal and ambitious in its scope all while retaining the cinematic vision and startling expression that so freshly lit the lines of his last

The Theory of Poetry in England Richard Pape Cowl,1914

The State of Moving Lucia Sellars,2022-01-04 The motion of poetry is like juggling You pick a set of feelings and images then raise them into the air into the randomness of infinity Then grab two realities and one ethereal substance Lucia Sellars As the blue planet rotates with a synchronised rhythm amongst the astral bodies of the Milky Way and beyond so our hearts palpit As the blue planet rotates with a synchronised rhythm amongst the astral bodies of the Milky Way and beyond so our hearts palpitate in a rhythmic configuration as we live in a world that is to live That is to say the action of movement from one step to the other one second to an hour is key in being who we are and what exists Newton s Third Law of Motion states that for every action force in nature there is an equal and opposite reaction Here in terms of poetry the art in itself as art can trigger a reaction in both the source and the receptor to the force Were the source is the poet and the receptor the reader The movement is not only experienced by the receptor but is also part of the creative process of transforming the poets imagination into tangible matter We could say that movement is equivalent to a pathway a bridge a tunnel a river a vein that takes you from A to B Movement is a constant just like energy constantly transforms itself and never dies The illusion of stillness and for things and beings to be at rest it s almost as a moment of reflection caught in the intervals of movement itself For example the spaces between the steps the breaths the thoughts the drops of rain of which we become aware of and self conscious about The mountain may seem still but its essence is the reflection of movement Stillness is just movement at its slowest a micro movement that nevertheless could produce a considerable large reaction or subsequent force Poetry moves emotion emotions are the movement of feelings to be moved There are perhaps two apparent pathways experienced through poetry First the pathway that is encountered by the poet itself through the pivotal moment of drifting in thoughts progressing into the future such as dreams or wishes the unknown regressing into the past such as memories and facts the known or just the present moment Second the pathway that is experienced by the reader or listener or viewer who would be moved into boredom epiphany inspiration understanding questioning anger sadness gladness joy or complete indifference
