Abstracts of Soviet and East European Emigré Periodical Literature ,1990 Soviet Antireligious Campaigns and Persecutions Dimitry V Pospelovsky,1988-01-19 Deification in Russian Religious Thought Ruth Coates,2019-09-12

Deification in Russian Religious Thought considers the reception of the Eastern Christian Orthodox doctrine of deification by Russian religious thinkers of the immediate pre revolutionary period Deification is the metaphor that the Greek patristic tradition came to privilege in its articulation of the Christian concept of salvation to be saved is to be deified that is to share in the divine attribute of immortality In the Christian narrative of the Orthodox Church God became human so that humans might become gods Ruth Coates shows that between the revolutions of 1905 and 1917 Russian religious thinkers turned to deification in their search for a commensurate response to the apocalyptic dimension of the universally anticipated destruction of the Russian autocracy and the social and religious order that supported it Focusing on major works by four prominent thinkers of the Russian Religious Renaissance Dmitry Merezhkovsky Nikolai Berdiaev Sergei Bulgakov and Pavel Florensky Coates demonstrates the salience of the deification theme and explores the variety of forms of its expression She argues that the reception of deification in this period is shaped by the discourse of early Russian cultural modernism and informed not only by theology but also by nineteenth century currents in Russian religious culture and German philosophy particularly as these are received by the novelist Fedor Dostoevsky and the philosopher Vladimir Soloviev In the works that are analysed deification is taken out of its original theological context and applied respectively to politics creativity economics and asceticism At the same time all the thinkers represented in the book view deification as a project a practice that should deliver the total transformation and immortalisation of human beings society culture and the material universe and this is what connects them to deification s theological source Making Martyrs East and West Cathy Caridi,2016-03-14 In Making Martyrs East and West Cathy Caridi examines how the practice of canonization developed in the West and in Russia focusing on procedural elements that became established requirements for someone to be recognized as a saint and a martyr Caridi investigates whether the components of the canonization process now regarded as necessary by the Catholic Church are fundamentally equivalent to those of the Russian Orthodox Church and vice versa while exploring the possibility that the churches use the same terminology and processes but in fundamentally different ways that preclude the acceptance of one church s saints by the other Making Martyrs East and West will appeal to scholars of religion and church history as well as ecumenicists liturgists canonists and those interested in East West ecumenical efforts The Cantonists Josef Mendeleovich,2025-03-11 Before 1917 the Russian Tsar wielded absolute power over a vast empire where more than 5 million Jews lived in isolation and segregation Under the rule of Tsar Nicholas I 1825 1855 policies toward Jews became especially oppressive Nicholas sought to erase Jewish identity by forcing their conversion to Christianity and promoting assimilation through mixed marriages One of his most ruthless strategies was the implementation of the Cantonist system which conscripted Jewish boys under the age of 13 into military service These children were torn from their families and communities subjected to brutal treatment and pressured relentlessly to abandon their faith Over three decades approximately 75 000 Jewish boys were conscripted Despite the immense hardships the majority stood firm with only 25% succumbing to conversion This powerful account sheds light on a dark chapter in history illustrating the resilience of a people facing relentless oppression under an authoritarian regime
