Newfoundland Photography, 1849-1949 Newfoundland Museum, 1980 A History of Photography in Canada, Volume 1 Martha Langford, 2025-11-15 From early reports of the invention to its wide application during World War I the idea of photography created anticipation and participation in the modern world The first volume of A History of Photography in Canada captures this phenomenon by looking at hundreds of photographs generated in and about Canada in the making and by listening to the chords they struck in the collective imagination Emphasizing technological readiness and cultural eagerness for the medium Martha Langford shows how photography served ideals of progress and improvement as Canada's settler society looked to master the world by seizing its visible traces The imposition of these programs on Indigenous Peoples and indentured labourers is confronted throughout this volume which offers both narratives and counternarratives of subjectification Reproducing images of people places events and objects from the unceded territories of the First Nations Inuit and Métis from British North America and from the Dominion of Canada and the Dominion of Newfoundland Langford asks where and when photographs were taken why and by whom How did the making and preservation of a photograph alter the circumstances in which it was produced and how did this affect individual and collective consciousness Alongside accomplished portraits landscapes still lifes and their vernacular counterparts the book draws glimmers of photographic experience from treatises and doggerel official reports and personal diaries newspapers magazines letters and travelogues Anticipation to Participation chronicles eight decades of reinvention and repurposing from a wondrous discovery to the wide adoption of a basic tool for knowledge gathering artmaking and journaling Langford's sweeping narrative rewrites the history of photography from the bottom up vividly expanding the definition of photographic experience Photographers Peter E. changed the face of much of the planet Newfoundland was part of this widespread transformation as migratory cod fishermen settled here in the early 1800s in order to hunt seals in late winter and early spring The seal fishery brought prosperity and growth and shaped this new society but seal hunters and their families paid a heavy human cost in lives lost and suffering experienced The traditional oil industries were doomed with the discovery of mineral oils and the ha essing of electricity and Newfoundland along with other societies faced painful adjustments while searching for alte ative industries However while its place in the economy declined the seal fishery left an indelible imprint on Newfoundland s culture and identity This study with its tables maps and illustrations examines the history of the Newfoundland seal fishery from its origins up to 1914 ranging in scope from the life of the hunter on the ice flows to the demands of the consumer in the market
