Newer Caribbean:

State, 1984     New Directions in Biocultural Anthropology Molly K. Zuckerman, Debra L. Martin, 2016-10-17 Biocultural or biosocial anthropology is a research approach that views biology and culture as dialectically and inextricably intertwined explicitly emphasizing the dynamic interaction between humans and their larger social cultural and physical environments The biocultural approach emerged in anthropology in the 1960s matured in the 1980s and is now one of the dominant paradigms in anthropology particularly within biological anthropology This volume gathers contributions from the top scholars in biocultural anthropology focusing on six of the most influential productive and important areas of research within biocultural anthropology These are critical and synthetic approaches within biocultural anthropology biocultural approaches to identity including race and racism health diet and nutrition infectious disease from antiquity to the modern era epidemiologic transitions and population dynamics and inequality and violence studies Focusing on these six major areas of burgeoning research within biocultural anthropology makes the proposed volume timely widely applicable and useful to scholars engaging in biocultural research and students interested in the biocultural approach and synthetic in its coverage of contemporary scholarship in biocultural anthropology Students will be able to grasp the history of the biocultural approach and how that history continues to impact scholarship as well as the scope of current research within the approach and the foci of biocultural research into the future Importantly contributions in the text follow a consistent format of a discussion of method and theory relative to a particular aspect of the above six topics followed by a case study applying the surveyed method and theory This structure will engage students by providing real world examples of anthropological issues and demonstrating how biocultural method and theory can be used to elucidate and resolve them Key features include Contributions which span the breadth of approaches and topics within biological anthropology from the insights granted through work with ancient human remains to those granted through collaborative research with contemporary peoples Comprehensive treatment of diverse topics within biocultural anthropology from human variation and adaptability to recent disease pandemics the embodied effects of race and racism industrialization and the rise of allergy and autoimmune diseases and the sociopolitics of slavery and torture Contributions and sections united by thematically cohesive threads Clear jargon free language in a text that is designed to be pedagogically flexible contributions are written to be both understandable and engaging to both undergraduate and graduate students Provision of synthetic theory method and data in each contribution The use of richly contextualized case studies driven by empirical data Through case study driven contributions each chapter demonstrates how biocultural approaches can be used to better understand and resolve real world problems and anthropological issues     The Newer Caribbean Paget Henry, Carl Stone, 1983     Sport, Culture and History Brian Stoddart, 2013-09-13 In addition to being an internationally recognised pioneer of sports history Brian Stoddart has also been a leading thinker and influence in the field That influence has crossed several areas of history sociology business politics and media aspects of sports studies and has drawn deeply upon his own training in Asian studies His work has been characterised by cross disciplinary work from the outset and has encompassed some very different geographical areas as well as crossing from academic outlets to media commentary As a result his influential work has appeared in many different locations and it has been difficult for a wide variety of readers to access it fully and easily This volume draws together in the one place for the first time some of his most important academic and journalistic work Importantly the pieces are drawn together by an intellectual autobiographical commentary that locates each piece in a wider social and cultural framework This book was previously published as a special issue of Sport in Society

Overcoming Obstacles in Environmental Policymaking John K. Gamman, 1994-12-05 This book examines why policies and laws intended to protect the environment often do not work In particular Gamman addresses the fundamental reasons why efforts to protect natural resources in the developing world generally fail He describes why environmental initiatives originating in national governments international foreign assistance agencies and environmental groups suffer from a dysfunctional decision making process And he suggests how to improve environmental policymaking by creating partnerships for sustainable development showing how to do this with a step by step negotiation process

New West Indian Guide, 1998 The Cambridge Economic History of Latin America: Volume 2, The Long Twentieth Century Victor Bulmer-Thomas, John Coatsworth, Roberto Cortes-Conde, 2006-01-23 Volume Two treats the long twentieth century from the onset of modern economic growth to the present It analyzes the principal dimensions of Latin America's first era of sustained economic growth from the last decades of the nineteenth century to 1930 It explores the era of inward looking development from the 1930s to the collapse of import substituting industrialization and the return to strategies of globalization in the 1980s Finally it looks at the long term trends in capital flows agriculture and the environment
