Wolf,2003-07-31 We welcome you to Coordination 99 the third in a series of conferences dedicated to an important perspective on the development of complex software systems That perspective is shared by a growing community of researchers interested in models languages and implementation techniques for coordination The last decade has seen the emergence of a class of models and languages variously termed coordination languages configuration languages architectural description languages and agent oriented programming languages

These formalisms provide a clean separation between individual software components and their interaction within the overall software organization This separation makes complex applications more tractable supports global analysis and enhances the reuse of software components The proceedings of the previous two conferences on this topic were published by Springer as Lecture Notes in Computer Science 1061 and 1282 This issue of LNCS containing the papers presented at Coordination 99 continues the tradition of carefully selected and high quality papers representing the state of the art in coordination technology In response to the call for papers we received 67 submissions from which 26 papers were accepted These proceedings also contain abstracts for posters presented at the conference This year's program features invited talks by Rocco De Nicola and Danny B Lange Reading through the papers we expect that you may be surprised by the variety of disciplines within computer science that have embraced the notion of coordination In fact we expect this trend to continue and hope that you will contribute to the on going exploration of its strengths weaknesses and applications
