Shopping for Identity Marilyn Halter, 2000 In America today you can connect to your ethnic heritage in dozens of ways or adopt an identity just for an evening Our society is not a melting pot but a salad bar a bazaar in which the purveyors of goods and services spend close to 2 billion a year marketing the foods clothing objects vacations and events that help people express their and others ethnic identities This is a huge business whose target groups are the hyphenated Americans in other words all of us As immigrant groups gain economic security they tend to reinforce not relinquish their ethnic identification Marilyn Halter demonstrates that to a great extent they do it by shopping And their purchasing power is enormous How has the marketplace responded to this hunger Instantly and wholeheartedly tweaking old products and inventing new ones launching new brands in supermarkets new music groups vacation itineraries language courses toys greeting cards et cetera This nexus of business and ethnicity is already seen as the hottest consumer development of this decade and Halter is uniquely qualified to describe its origins the exponential growth of products and advertising and the phenomenal sales of items from salsa to Chieftains CDs She addresses her subject with an abundance of anecdotal evidence telling examples of ethnic marketing and interviews
