Muslims and Christians Face to Face Kate Zebiri,2014-10-01 From the Crusades to the present day the interrelationship between Islam and Christianity has been fraught with conflict both theological and military Yet events in 20th century history particularly the communications revolution have meant that after centuries of living in isolation from each other Christians and Muslims find themselves participating in the same intellectual culture and are having to review their assumptions about each other In this work Zebiri analyzes modern Muslim writings on Christianity and Christian writings on Islam to explore the issues central to Muslim Christian relations The literature surveyed is diverse both popular and scholarly varying in function authorship and intended audience Through its juxtaposition of the mutual perceptions of Muslims and Christians the book provides an overview of the more important contrasts and similarities between the two religions

Hume on God Timothy S. Yoder,2008-12-01 David Hume one of the most influential philosophers to have written in the English language is widely known as a skeptic and an empiricist He is famous for raising questions about the existence of things for which there is insufficient empirical evidence such as souls the self miracles and perhaps most importantly God Despite this reputation however Hume s works contain frequent references to a deity and one searches in vain to find a positive assertion of atheism This book proposes a different reading of Hume on God in which Hume is seen as proposing a genuine theism Yoder investigates Hume s use of irony and his relationship with the Deists of his era and offers a thorough re examination of Hume s writings on religion Yoder concludes that despite Hume s criticisms of the church religiously based ethics and the belief in miracles he stops well short of a rejection of the existence of God Always a creative thinker Hume carves out a unique conception of the divine being
