

The background of the entire image is a painting. It depicts a young boy's face, looking directly at the viewer with a somber expression. The face is rendered in soft, painterly strokes, with visible brushwork. The boy has light skin and dark hair. In the foreground, a brick wall is painted across the middle of the image. The bricks are in shades of red, orange, and brown, with dark mortar lines. The wall appears to be made of rough, uneven bricks. The overall color palette is muted and earthy, with a focus on the textures of the paint and the bricks.

Off the Endz Bola Agbaje,2014-02-14 My future is here My aim is clear and simple I want out I wanna be rich I m not gonna pretend it s anything more than that and I want it now David Kojo and Sharon grew up on a London estate Now in their mid 20s they re eyeing another kind of life But how do you choose the right path when temptation lies around every corner If your emotional or financial debt is sky high how do you buy your way out Bola Agbaje s smart savvy second play for the Royal Court asks whether being out of the system might be just as good as being in it Her characters struggle to ignore the pull of lawless gain and in their newly respectable adult lives find it hard to move away from a background which both haunts them and entices them back Agbaje s characteristically energetic vibrant dialogue captures the dynamic rhythm of spoken language and she portrays an under represented slice of society with skill and compassion

Adler & Gibb Tim Crouch,2014-06-19 You d like that would you your most private pinkest tenderest small bird small bird small fragile stolen from you slammed down onto the slab the block poked at and paraded The children swing their legs on the chairs The student delivers the presentation The older woman stands with the gun The young couple arrives at the house The house is returning to nature A movie is being made The truth is being plundered But the house is still lived in and the spirit to resist is strong Janet Adler and Margaret Gibb were conceptual artists working in New York at the end of the last century They were described by art critic Dave Hickey as the most ferociously uncompromising voice of their generation With Adler s death in 2004 however the compromise began Adler Gibb tells the story of a raid on a house a life a reality and a legacy The play takes Tim Crouch s fascination with form and marries it to a thrilling story of misappropriation Also includes what happens to the hope at the end of the evening by Tim Crouch and Andy Smith a facsimile of the text as used in performance

The Routledge Companion to Contemporary European Theatre and Performance Ralf Remshardt,Aneta Mancewicz,2023-08-24 This is a comprehensive overview of contemporary European theatre and performance as it enters the third decade of the twenty first century It combines critical discussions of key concepts practitioners and trends within theatre making both in particular countries and across borders that are shaping European stage practice With the geography geopolitics and cultural politics of Europe more unsettled than at any point in recent memory this book s combination of national and thematic coverage offers a balanced understanding of the continent s theatre and performance cultures Employing a range of methodologies and critical approaches across its three parts and ninety four chapters this book s first part contains a comprehensive listing of European nations the second part charts responses to thematic complexes that define current European performance and the third section gathers a series of case studies that explore the contribution of some of Europe
