Authors,2020-09-28 Many hundreds of years ago when the Plantagenets were kings England was so covered with woods that a squirrel was said to be able to hop from tree to tree from the Severn to the Humber It must have been very different to look at from the country we travel through now but still there were roads that ran from north to south and from east to west for the use of those who wished to leave their homes and at certain times of the year these roads were thronged with people Pilgrims going to some holy shrine passed along merchants taking their wares to Court Abbots and Bishops ambling by on palfreys to bear their part in the King s Council and more frequently still a solitary Knight seeking adventures Besides the broad roads there were small tracks and little green paths and these led to clumps of low huts where dwelt the peasants charcoal burners and ploughmen and here and there some larger clearing than usual told that the house of a yeoman was near Now and then as you passed through the forest you might ride by a splendid abbey and catch a glimpse of monks in long black or white gowns fishing in the streams and rivers that abound in this part of England or casting nets in the fish ponds which were in the midst of the abbey gardens Or you might chance to see a castle with round turrets and high battlements circled by strong walls and protected by a moat full of water This was the sort of England into which the famous Robin Hood was born We do not know anything about him who he was or where he lived or what evil deed he had done to put him beyond the King s grace For he was an outlaw and any man might kill him and never pay penalty for it But outlaw or not the poor people loved him and looked on him as their friend and many a stout fellow came to join him and led a merry life in the greenwood with moss and fern for bed and for meat the King s deer which it was death to slay Peasants of all sorts tillers of the land yeomen and as some say Knights went on their ways freely for of them Robin took no toll but lordly churchmen with money bags well filled or proud Bishops with their richly dressed followers trembled as they drew near to Sherwood Forest who was to know whether behind every tree there did not lurk Robin Hood or some of his men Tales ,1905 Delphi
