The Orchard Adele Crockett Robertson, 2023 A stirring memoir of a young single woman's laborious struggle to save her family's New England apple farm from going under during the Great Depression The Orchard is an exquisitely beautiful and poignant memoir of a young woman's single handed struggle to save her New England farm in the depths of the Great Depression Discovered by the author's daughter after the author's death it tells the story of Adele Kitty Robertson young and energetic but unprepared by her Radcliffe education for the rigors of apple farming in those bitter years of the early 1930s Alone at the end of a country road with only a Great Dane for company plagued by debts broken machinery and killing frosts Kitty revives the old orchard after years of neglect Every day is a struggle but every day she is also rewarded by the beauty of the world and the unexpected kindness of neighbors and hired workers Animated by quiet courage and simple goodness The Orchard stands as a deeply moving celebration of decency and beauty in the midst of grim prospects and crushing poverty In addition to a foreword and epilogue by Betsy Robertson Cramer the author's daughter this Nonpareil edition includes a new afterword by award winning author Jane Brox

Writing the Land Daniel G. Payne, 2009-05-05 At the time of his death in 1921 John Burroughs 1837-1921 was America's most beloved nature writer a best selling author whose friends and admirers included Walt Whitman Theodore Roosevelt John Muir Henry Ford and Thomas Edison Burroughs was second only to Emerson in fostering the nature study movement of the nineteenth century and the popularity of his work inspired Houghton Mifflin to publish or reissue the work of numerous other nature writers including that of Thoreau and Muir His first collection of essays Wake Robin was published in 1871 and over the next fifty years Burroughs wrote almost two dozen books and hundreds of essays not only on nature but on literature travel philosophy religion and science By the turn of the century Burroughs was America's most beloved nature writer whose friends and admirers included Walt Whitman Theodore Roosevelt John Muir Henry Ford and Thomas Edison Burroughs died in 1921 while on a train ride back to his New York from California His final words Are we home yet were a remarkably fitting coda to the career of a writer so closely identified with his native Catskill region of New York State In many of his essays Burroughs explores the woods and fields of home and in doing so like Henry Thoreau and his explorations of Concord Massachusetts he transcends the local and examines the universal theme of our relation with nature and our native landscape Burroughs's emphasis on place and the local now seems modern once again as the current interest in bioregionalism and climate change demonstrates it has become increasingly evident that thinking locally is thinking globally Since 1992 the SUNY College at Oneonta has hosted the biannual John Burroughs Nature Conference and Seminar Sharp Eyes which honors the influence of Burroughs on American nature writing Distinguished keynote speakers who have addressed the conference include John Elder John Tallmadge Joy Harjo Robin Wall Kimmerer Edward Kanze James Perrin Warren and Edward J. Renahan Jr The scope of the conference is not limited solely to Burroughs however as each year the writers and scholars in attendance direct their attention toward a particular issue of significance to contemporary nature writers and scholars of environmental literature The theme of this collection Writing the Land: John Burroughs and his Legacy was featured in the 2006 conference and includes essays on John Burroughs as well as essays on the work of other writers who like Burroughs are linked closely through their work to a particular landscape or region The third and final section of this book features invited essays by three distinguished scholars John Tallmadge Robert Beuka and Charlotte Zo Walker who consider the topic of what writing about the land and nature means from three different perspectives urban suburban and rural His Heart Was in His Orchard William Sarnoff, 2019-10-15 William Sarnoff popular Oregon Humorist continues his mission of making readers laugh out loud This latest collection elevates the art of storytelling to a memorable experience as the author recreates moments of people and events deliciously remembered that linger like dark Belgian chocolate New Poetics of Chekhov's Major Plays Harai Golomb, 2014-01-01 This text attempts to map the unique structure and meaning that comprise Chekhov's immensely rich artistic universe The prime components of his theatrical technique and fictional world are explored to uncover the basic principles governing the Chekhov's universe Pea Ridge William L.
