Orage And The New Age:

The Old "New Age". Orage - and Others Beatrice Hastings, 1916 The New Age ,1930 Absent Minds Stefan Collini, 2006-03-09 A richly textured work of history and a powerful contribution to contemporary cultural debate Absent Minds provides the first full length account of the question of intellectuals in twentieth century Britain have such figures ever existed have they always been more prominent or influential elsewhere and are they on the point of becoming extinct today Recovering neglected or misunderstood traditions of reflection and debate from the late nineteenth century through to the present Stefan Collini challenges the familiar cliché that there are no real intellectuals in Britain The book offers a persuasive analysis of the concept of the intellectual and an extensive comparative account of how this question has been seen in the USA France and elsewhere in Europe There are detailed discussions of influential or revealing figures such as Julien Benda T S Eliot George Orwell and Edward Said as well as trenchant critiques of current assumptions about the impact of specialization and celebrity Throughout attention is paid to the multiple senses of the term intellectuals and to the great diversity of relevant genres and media through which they have communicated their ideas from pamphlets and periodical essays to public lectures and radio talks Elegantly written and rigorously argued Absent Minds is a major long awaited work by a leading intellectual historian and cultural commentator ranging across the conventional divides between academic disciplines and combining insightful portraits of individuals with sharp edged cultural analysis New English Weekly & the New Age ,1934 The Academy ,1909 Language, Communication and the Economy Guido Erreygers, Geert Jacobs, 2005-01-01 This volume brings together a number of wide ranging transdisciplinary research articles on the interface between discourse studies and economics It explores in what way economics can contribute to the analysis of discursive practices in various institutional settings as well as investigating what role discourse studies can play in economic research The contributors are linguists communication scholars economists and other social scientists drawing on various traditions including Critical Discourse Analysis Cognitive Linguistics ethnography and the literature on the rhetoric of economics and on economic storytelling All articles are essentially empirical focusing on the details of actual language use The type of data analysed ranges from the minutes of university policy meetings and large scale corpora of newspaper language over books of economic theory from both well respected economists and monetary cranks to cartoons from The Economist Academy, with which are Incorporated Literature and the English Review ,1909 How D. H. Lawrence Read Herman Melville Kevin J. Hayes, 2021 Details Lawrence s reception of Melville and reveals his underacknowledged role in the Melville Revival while contributing to the history of the book and the study of the creative process The Short Sharp Life of T. E. Hulme Robert Ferguson, 2012-05-15 Prior to the First World War T E Hulme was one of the most original and striking creative personalities in England strongly admired by both Pound and Eliot Yet he died in 1917 virtually unknown A key figure in the genesis of Modernism Hulme mixed among a great range of gifted artists and was never shy of courting controversy

Unusually among poets of his generation he was convinced of the rightness of Britain's role in the war and criticised Bertrand Russell for his pacifism Robert Ferguson offers the first modern biography of Hulme drawing upon access to Hulme's papers and later interviews with his associates A humane comprehensive biography By the end Ferguson's final judgment of his subject the conservative character at its best seems justified Jeremy Noel Todd Observer

Divine Feminine Joy Dixon, 2003-05-01 Honorable Mention for the Wallace K Ferguson Prize from the Canadian Historical Association Chosen by Choice Magazine as an Outstanding Academic Title of 2003 In 1891 newspapers all over the world carried reports of the death of H P Blavatsky the mysterious Russian woman who was the spiritual founder of the Theosophical Society With the help of the equally mysterious Mahatmas who were her teachers Blavatsky claimed to have brought the ancient wisdom of the East to the rescue of a materialistic West In England Blavatsky's earliest followers were mostly men but a generation later the Theosophical Society was dominated by women and theosophy had become a crucial part of feminist political culture Divine Feminine is the first full length study of the relationship between alternative or esoteric spirituality and the feminist movement in England Historian Joy Dixon examines the Theosophical Society's claims that women and the East were the repositories of spiritual forces which English men had forfeited in their scramble for material and imperial power Theosophists produced arguments that became key tools in many feminist campaigns Many women of the Theosophical Society became suffragists to promote the spiritualizing of politics attempting to create a political role for women as a way to sacralize the public sphere Dixon also shows that theosophy provides much of the framework and the vocabulary for today's New Age movement Many of the assumptions about class race and gender which marked the emergence of esoteric religions at the end of the nineteenth century continue to shape alternative spiritualities today
