Remediating McLuhan Richard Cavell, 2025-10-01 While current scholarly interest has assured Marshall McLuhan s 1911 80 foundational status as a media theorist much room still exists for further exploration of his writings which have taken on additional layers of significance in our contemporary digital moment Holding that media were extensions of the human McLuhan also posited that the human was a product of technology Ranging across fields as diverse as art history biotechnology and beyond this collection of essays considers McLuhan s ground breaking approach within a number of new contexts and explores the distinguishing features of his media theory

The Class Sonia Livingstone, Julian Sefton-Green, 2016-05-03 An intimate look at how children network identify learn and grow in a connected world Read Online at connectedyouth.nyupress.org Do today s youth have more opportunities than their parents As they build their own social and digital networks does that offer new routes to learning and friendship How do they navigate the meaning of education in a digitally connected but fiercely competitive highly individualized world Based upon fieldwork at an ordinary London school The Class examines young people s experiences of growing up and learning in a digital world In this original and engaging study Livingstone and Sefton Green explore youth values teenagers perspectives on their futures and their tactics for facing the opportunities and challenges that lie ahead The authors follow the students as they move across their different social worlds in school at home and with their friends engaging in a range of activities from video games to drama clubs and music lessons By portraying the texture of the students everyday lives The Class seeks to understand how the structures of social class and cultural capital shape the development of personal interests relationships and autonomy Providing insights into how young people s social digital and learning networks enable or disempower them Livingstone and Sefton Green reveal that the experience of disconnections and blocked pathways is often more common than that of connections and new opportunities The Internet in China Zixue Tai,2007-05-07 The Internet in China examines the cultural and political ramifications of the Internet for Chinese society The rapid growth of the Internet has been enthusiastically embraced by the Chinese government but the government has also rushed to seize control of the virtual environment Individuals have responded with impassioned campaigns against official control of information The emergence of a civil society via cyberspace has had profound effects upon China for example in 2003 based on an Internet campaign the Chinese Supreme People s Court overturned the ruling of a local court for the first time since the Communist Party came to power in 1949 The important question this book asks is not whether the Internet will democratize China but rather in what ways the Internet is democratizing communication in China How is the Internet empowering individuals by fostering new types of social spaces and redefining existing social relations Qualitative Discourse Analysis in the Social Sciences Ruth Wodak,Michal Krzyzanowski,2017-09-16 What can language tell us about society Looking at a range of genres from political speeches to internet chat this book shows how qualitative methods are used to analyse discourses throughout the social sciences The practical problems of designing and conducting discourse based research are solved in this key resource for all social scientists Understanding the New Media K. Husman,1919-07-01 A Companion to Curation Brad Buckley,John Conomos,2019-11-06 The definitive reference text on curation both inside and outside the museum A Companion to Curation is the first collection of its kind assembling the knowledge and experience of prominent curators artists art historians scholars and theorists in one comprehensive volume Part of the Blackwell Companion series this much needed book provides up to date information and valuable insights on the field of curatorial studies and curation in the visual arts Accessible and engaging chapters cover diverse contemporary methods of curation its origin and history current and emerging approaches within the profession and more This timely publication fills a significant gap in literature on the role of the curator the art and science of curating and the historical arc of the field from the 17th century to the present The Companion explores topics such as global developments in contemporary indigenous art Asian and Chinese art since the 1980s feminist and queer feminist curatorial practices and new curatorial strategies beyond the museum This unique volume Offers readers a wide range of perspectives on curating in both theory and practice Includes coverage of curation outside of the Eurocentric and Anglosphere art worlds Presents clear and comprehensible information valuable for specialists and novices alike Discusses the movements models people and politics of curating Provides guidance on curating in a globalized world Broad in scope and detailed in content A Companion to Curation is an essential text for professionals engaged in varied forms of curation teachers and students of museum studies and readers interested in the workings of the art world museums benefactors and curators International Handbook of
