Mats Bergman,Kęstas Kirtiklis,Johan Siebers,2019-10-16 Models of Communication offers a timely reassessment of the significance of modelling in media and communication studies From a rich variety of different perspectives the collected essays explore the past present and future uses of communication models in ordinary discourses concerning communication as well as in academic research This book challenges received views of communication models and opens up new paths of inquiry for communication research By zooming in on the manifestations and purposes of modelling in ordinary discourses on communication as well as in theoretical expositions the essays collected in this volume cast new light on the problems and prospects of models crafted for the benefit of communication inquiry Complementing earlier studies of models of communication the volume digs deep into fundamental epistemological and ontological questions concerning modelling in the communication disciplines but it also presents several novel models that promise to be of practical use in empirical studies of media and communication The book is intended for communication scholars and students of media and will also be of interest for related disciplines in the humanities and the social sciences The Handbook of Global Health Communication Rafael Obregon, Silvio Waisbord, 2012-03-12 International in scope The Handbook of Global Health Communication offers a comprehensive and up to date analysis of the role of communication processes in global public health development and social change Brings together 32 contributions from well respected scholars and practitioners in the field addressing a wide range of communication approaches in current global health programs Offers an integrated view that links communication to the strengthening of health services the involvement of affected communities in shaping health policies and improving care and the empowerment of citizens in making decisions about health Adopts a broad understanding of communication that goes beyond conventional divisions between informational and participatory approaches Reflections on the International Association for Media and Communication Research Jörg Becker, Robin Mansell, 2023-04-29 Throughout its 65 year history the International Association for Media and Communication Research IAMCR has sought to facilitate international exchanges and research collaborations among academics and journalists in the field of media and communication Created during a time of strong ideological tension following World War II in 1957 and with the support of UNESCO the contributors to this edited collection highlight how the IAMCR and its members shaped the field of media and communications research From its beginnings focusing on the mass media including the press and journalism education today the Association attracts researchers and practitioners who undertake critical analysis of contemporary media and communications including online platforms and their governance Consistent themes throughout the Association s history have been its concern with human rights law culture and the political economy of the media and communication industries Not content simply to understand developments in the media and communications field around the world the Association s membership has sought to change the world through its published research and its participation in global regional national and local policy debate and practice This volume is organised in four parts following an introduction authored by editors who are active members of IAMCR Part I highlights eight prominent scholarly traditions of research which have attracted the interest of scholars from around the world as well as the way the Association has sought to be inclusive of early career scholars Part II offers seven chapters which bring to light the political struggles of a membership seeking to engage in scholarship across the East West divide and to contribute to global debates aimed at fostering an inclusive fair and equitable international information and communication order through engagement with United Nations sponsored initiatives Part III turns to accounts of the way members from selected countries and regions have contributed to the Association s scholarly work The last part highlights the significant scholarly and institution building contributions of James Halloran IAMCR s President from 1972 to 1988 and other prominent contributors to the study of culture and the political economy of media and communications

existing models of the whole of parts of the mass communications process which have been developed during the last thirty years providing brief descriptions of the most significant concepts and ideas in the study of mass communication using graphic and verbal models      Communication Yearbooks Vols 6-33 Set Various,2021-12-02 The Communication Yearbook annuals originally published between 1977 and 2009 publish diverse state of the discipline literature reviews that advance knowledge and understanding of communication systems processes and impacts across the discipline Topics dealt with include Communication as Process Research Methodology in Communication Communication Effects Taxonomy of Communication and European Communication Theory Information Systems Division Mass Communication Research Mapping the Domain of Intercultural Communication Public Relations Feminist Scholarship Communication Law and Policy Visual Communication Communication and Cross Sex Friendships Across the Life Cycle Television Programming and Sex Stereotyping InterCultural Communication Training Leadership and Relationships Media Performance Assessment Cognitive Approaches to Communication      Handbook of Communication and Development Melkote, Srinivas R.,Singhal, Arvind,2021-08-27 This incisive Handbook critically examines the role and place of media and communication in development and social change reflecting a vision for change anchored in values of social justice Outlining the genealogy and history of the field it then investigates the possible new directions and objectives in the area Key conclusions include an enhanced role for development communication in participatory development active agency of stakeholders of development programs and the operationalization of social justice in development      The Handbook of Global Interventions in Communication Theory Yoshitaka Miike,Jing Yin,2022-03-10 Moving beyond the U S Eurocentric paradigm of communication theory this handbook broadens the intellectual horizons of the discipline by highlighting underrepresented especially non Western theorists and theories and identifies key issues and challenges for future scholarship Showcasing diverse perspectives the handbook facilitates active engagement in different cultural traditions and theoretical orientations that are global in scope but local in effect It begins by exploring past efforts to diversify the field continuing on to examine theoretical concepts models and principles rooted in local cumulative wisdom It does not limit itself to the mass interpersonal communication divide but rather seeks to frame theory as global and inclusive in scope The book is intended for communication researchers and advanced students with relevance to scholars with an interest in theory within information science library science social and cross cultural psychology multicultural education social justice and social ethics international relations development studies and political science      Multivariate Techniques in Human Communication Research Peter R.
