New Religious Movements Europe:

New Religious Movements in Europe Johannes Aagaard, Helle Meldgaard, 1997 RENNER Studies on New Religions is an initiative supported by the Danish Research Council for the Humanities. The series was established to publish books on alternative spiritual movements from a wide range of perspectives. The books will appeal to an international readership of scholars, students and professionals in the study of religion, theology, the arts and the social sciences. It is hoped that this series will provide a proper context for scientific exchange between these often competing disciplines. Stimulated by travel, mass media and education, individuals have spent the twentieth century questioning organized religion and at the start of a new millennium many are turning to spirituality rooted in ancient practice but modernized by secular experience. In this volume an international group of authors surveys the religious and spiritual movements growing in popularity in Western Europe including, to name a few, theosophy, Transcendental Meditation, the Rosicrucians, the Occult and Hare Krishna.

Researching New Religious Movements Elisabeth Arweck, 2004-08-02 What this book is about: Milestones in a research itinerary. Institutions and institutional knowledge. Sketching in the cultural background. The anti cult movement's response. The response of the mainstream churches. Conclusions. New Religious Movements in Western Europe Elisabeth Arweck, Peter Clarke, 1997-04-16 The first compilation that brings together publications on New Religious Movements (NRMs) from across Western Europe. This useful work includes titles written in most European languages. The Introduction provides an overview of NRMs since 1960 and places them in a global perspective. The literature from the late 1970s to the present covers areas of study such as sociology, psychology, history, theology and more, and will be of interest to scholars and students in many disciplines. The work is a companion piece to Diane Choquette's New Religious Movements in the United States and Canada: A Critical Assessment (Greenwood, 1985). The authors, experts in NRMs throughout the world, discuss various explanatory models that account for the emergence of NRMs and look at the way they have spread throughout the countries of Western Europe. Membership and impact are discussed as well as the response of the wider society. The label 'new' is addressed and some attempts at classification are presented.

Politics of Religion in Western Europe François Forêt, Xabier Itçaina, 2013-06-17 Religion is becoming increasingly important to the study of political science and to re-examine key concepts such as democracy, securitization, foreign policy analysis and international relations. The secularization of Europe is often understood according to the concept of multiple modernities, the idea that there may be several roads to modernity which do not all mean the eradication of religion. This framework provides support for the view that different traditions, societies and groups can come to terms with the components of modernity: capitalism, democracy, human rights, science and reason, while keeping in touch with their religious background, faith and practice. Contributors examine the interaction between EU integration processes and Western European countries such as Belgium, France, Luxembourg, Austria, Scandinavia, Italy and the UK, and shine fresh light on the economic and cultural contexts brought about by relationships.

Minority Religions in Europe and the Middle East George D. Chryssides, 2018-08-06 Minority religions, not only New Religious Movements, are explored in this innovative book, including the predicament of ancient religions such as Zoroastrianism, old new religions such as Baha'i, and traditional religions that are minorities elsewhere. The book is divided into two parts: the gathering of data on religious minorities, mapping and the ways in which governments and interest groups respond to them; monitoring. The international group examine which new religions exist in particular countries, what their uptake is and how allegiance can be ascertained. They explore a range of issues faced by minority religions, encompassing official state recognition and registration, unequal treatment in comparison with a dominant religion, how changes in government can affect how they fare, the extent to which members are free to practise their faith, how they sometimes seek to influence politics and how they can be affected by harassment and persecution. Bringing together debates concerning the social and political issues facing new religions in Europe and the Middle East, this collection extends its focus to Middle Eastern minority faiths, enabling exposition of spiritual movements such as the Glen Movement, Paganism in Israel and the Zoroastrians in Tehran.

Ireland's New Religious Movements

Olivia Cosgrove, Laurence Cox, Carmen Kuhling, 2010-10-12 Until recently, Irish religion has been seen as defined by Catholic power in the South and sectarianism in the North. In recent years, however, both have been shaken by widespread changes in religious practice and belief: the rise of new religious movements, the revival of magical devotionalism, the arrival of migrant religion and the spread of New Age and alternative spirituality. This book is the first to bring together researchers exploring all these areas in a wide-ranging overview of new religion in Ireland. Chapters explore the role of feminism, Ireland as global Celtic homeland, the growth of Islam, understanding the New Age evangelicals in the Republic, alternative healing,

Irish interest in Buddhism channelled teachings and religious visions. This book will be an indispensable handbook for professionals in many fields seeking to understand Ireland's increasingly diverse and multicultural religious landscape as well as for students of religion, sociology, psychology, anthropology and Irish Studies. Giving an overview of the shape of new religion in Ireland today and models of the best work in the field, it is likely to remain a standard text for many years to come.
