New Protectionism

Enrico Sassoond

New Protectionism:

The New Protectionism Tim Lang, Colin Hines, 1993 This monograph questions the benefits of free trade arguing that far from promoting prosperity for all those involved free trade only serves a narrow range of interests primarily for the large corporations who conduct it The authors claim that the consequences of present arrangements and those promised under the new GATT agreement will increase the difference between the world's rich and poor and accelerate the destruction of the global environment The authors suggest instead that trading arrangements should emphasize regional self sufficiency and the overall amount of trade should be reduced

The New Protectionism Fred Lazar, 1981-01-01 Written in the early 1980s against a backdrop of strengthening calls for a North American free trade agreement this study examines the protectionist impulses masquerading as efforts to eliminate tariff barriers In the wake of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade the GATT the popular assumption hailed it as a victory for freer trade Lazar demonstrates that the trend was in fact towards a new protectionism based on the erection of non tariff barriers specifically designed to subvert the GATT In response he called for a Canadian industrial strategy that promoted Canadian companies and encouraged exports The New Protectionism is a subtle analysis of the rhetoric and reality of free trade as practised in the early 1980s

The New Protectionism Melvyn B. Krauss, International Center for Economic Policy Studies, 1978 Taking the New Protectionism Seriously Brian Hindley, Eri Nicolaides, 1983 The New Protectionism John Atkinson Hobson, 1916

The New Protectionism in Industrial Countries Mr. Douglas A. Irwin, 1994-02-01 This paper presents a broad overview of trade protection in industrial countries from the 1970s to the present The emphasis of such measures has shifted from the protection of agriculture and basic manufacturing industries where many industrial countries had lost or never had comparative advantage in the 1970s and 1980s toward the protection and promotion of high technology sectors in recent years The new forms of protection particularly subsidies and antidumping rules have not necessarily contravened GATT rules and the Uruguay Round fell short of reigning in such interventions While these more recent trade interventions might in principle have an economic justification under certain conditions theoretical empirical and practical considerations call for great skepticism about the desirability and efficacy of such policies The next challenge for world trade negotiators is to contain the pressures for intervention in these areas This is a Paper on Policy Analysis and Assessment and the author would welcome any comments on the present text Citations should refer to a Paper on Policy Analysis and Assessment of the International Monetary Fund mentioning the author's and the date of issuance The views expressed are those of the author's and do not necessarily represent those of the Fund

International Trade Policy David Greenaway, 1983 Freedom to Trade Edward L. Hudgins, 1997 The New Protectionism John Atkinson Hobson, 2023-07-18 First published in 1910 this seminal work by J A Hobson explores the economic policies and practices of the early 20th century with a focus on the rise of protectionist trade policies Hobson argues that such policies are harmful to both countries involved and advocates for free trade and international cooperation This book remains relevant today as debates over trade continue to shape global politics and economics This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant

International Trade Policy David Greenaway,1988 The New Protectionism J. A. (John Atkinson) Hobson,2012-08-01 Unlike some other reproductions of classic texts 1 We have not used OCR Optical Character Recognition as this leads to bad quality books with introduced typos 2 In books where there are images such as portraits maps sketches etc We have endeavoured to keep the quality of these images so they represent accurately the original artefact Although occasionally there may be certain imperfections with these old texts we feel they deserve to be made available for future generations to enjoy

The Economic and Political Roots of the New Protectionism Sima Lieberman,1988 In this volume the author presents the hypothesis that during the 19th and 20th centuries political and industrial leaders of Western industrialized economics supported free trade policies only as long as their production and sales were not threatened by significant foreign competition When their economic hegemony was challenged the same nations enacted protectionist measures By integrating the historic and political factors that affected Western commercial policy in the course of two centuries the author gives a broad perspective to the study of international trade in the 19th and 20th centuries and demonstrates the relevance of noneconomic variables in the economic history of this period

Export Dependence versus the New Protectionism Glenn Randall Fong,2017-10-10 In an international political economy characterised both by constancy and change this study first published in 1996 links together one seemingly incongruous continuity in international trade relations with an increasingly dramatic development in the economies of industrial countries On the one hand industrialised countries have become progressively dependent upon one another On the other hand the liberal international trade regime has yet to falter These two points are tied together by seeking to explain the maintenance of liberal trade relations in terms of the mutual economic dependence of industrial countries In particular the study examines what may be a fundamental constraint on trade protectionism today the reliance of industrialised countries on external trade relations and especially on markets within the industrial world

The New Protectionist Wave Enrico Sassoond,2016-07-27 The book reviews protectionist practices in the United States the European Community and Japan It assesses their causes and effects In coverage depth of analysis and vantage point this is a unique study of the new protectionist trends that began in the 1970s and continued into the 1980s Multilateralism in trade relations is now seriously threatened by the deviant behaviour of the industrial nations the would be pillars of the world trading system set up after World War II The new protectionism exerts strong pressures on the weaker components of the trading system the developing nations Born as an intra developed countries affair the new protectionism has in fact shifted its focus on developing countries threatening the newly found outward orientation of many and making more difficult for all to retain the benefits of export trade

The New Protectionism J A Hobson, 2023-07-18 Published in 1906 The New Protectionism is a seminal work on international trade and economic policy Hobson argues against protectionism and advocates for free trade as a means to increase prosperity and minimize conflict between nations This book continues to be relevant in today s globalized economy This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant

Governing Cross-Border Data Flows Svetlana Yakovleva, 2024-02-27

Governing Cross Border Data Flows explores how the European Union can simultaneously reconcile and pursue two important legal and policy objectives namely protecting fundamental rights guaranteed under the EU Charter of Fundamental Rights EU Charter concerning privacy and personal data while also maintaining and developing a binding rules based global trading system to ensure appropriate access to foreign digital markets for EU businesses The book demonstrates a significant conflict between international trade law and European data privacy law when it comes to the governance of cross border flows of personal data To resolve the tensions caused by this clash the book proposes concrete and detailed ways to ameliorate the situation from both ends international trade and personal data protection specifically through reforms of both international trade and chapter V of the General Data Protection Regulation GDPR To explain how such reforms could be effectuated Yakovleva examines the role of discourse in the evolution of trade law in the last two decades The book also paves the way for the further research necessary to design a fully fledged reform proposal of the EU framework for the transfer of personal data outside the European Economic Area
