Renier, 1989 Dutch Dictionary Fernand Gabriel Renier, 1992 The Oxford History of English Lexicography A. P. Cowie, 2008-12-04 These substantial volumes present the fullest account yet published of the lexicography of English from its origins in medieval glosses through its rapid development in the eighteenth century to a fully established high tech industry that is as reliant as ever on learning and scholarship The history covers dictionaries of English and its national varieties including American English with numerous references to developments in Europe and elsewhere which have influenced the course of English lexicography Part one of Volume I explores the early development of glosses and bilingual and multilingual dictionaries and examines their influence on lexicographical methods and ideas Part two presents a systematic history of monolingual dictionaries of English and includes extensive chapters on Johnson Webster and his successors in the USA and the OED It also contains descriptions of the development of dictionaries of national and regional varieties and of Old and Middle English and concludes with an account of the computerization of the OED The specialized dictionaries described in Volume II include dictionaries of science dialects synonyms etymology pronunciation slang and cant quotations phraseology and personal and place names This volume also includes an account of the inception and development of dictionaries developed for particular users especially foreign learners of English The Oxford History of English Lexicography unites scholarship with readability It provides a unique and accessible reference for scholars and professional lexicographers and offers a series of fascinating encounters with the men and women involved over the centuries in the making of works of profound national and linguistic importance The Dutch Rediscover the Dutch-Africans (1847-1900) Andrew Burnett, 2022-07-25 Were the Dutch Africans in southern Africa a brother nation to the Dutch or did they simply represent a lost colony Connecting primary sources in Dutch and Afrikaans this work tells the story of the Dutch stamverwantschap kinship movement between 1847 and 1900 The white Dutch Africans were imagined to be the bridgehead to a broader Dutch identity a second Netherlands in the south This study explores how the 19th century Dutch identified with and idealised a pastoral community operating within a racially segregated society on the edge of European civilisation When the stamverwantschap dream collided with British military and economic power the belief that race language and religion could sustain a broader Dutch identity proved to be an illusion Everywhen Ann McGrath, Jakelin Troy, Laura Rademaker, 2023 Everywhen is a groundbreaking collection about diverse ways of conceiving knowing and narrating time and deep history Looking beyond the linear documentary past of Western or academic history this collection asks how knowledge systems of Australia's Aboriginals and Torres Strait Islanders can broaden our understandings of the past and of historical practice Indigenous embodied practices for knowing narrating and reenacting the past in the present blur the distinctions of linear time making all history now Ultimately questions of time and language are questions of Indigenous sovereignty The Australian case is especially pertinent because Australian Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people are among the few Native peoples without a treaty with their colonizers Appreciating First Nations time concepts embedded in languages and practices as Everywhen does is a route to recognizing diverse forms of Indigenous sovereignties Everywhen makes three major contributions The first is a concentration on language both as a means of knowing and transmitting the past across generations and as a vital albeit long overlooked source material for historical investigation to reveal how many Native people maintained and continue to maintain ancient traditions and identities through language Everywhen also considers Indigenous practices of history or knowing the past that stretch back more than sixty thousand years these Indigenous epistemologies might indeed challenge those of the academy Finally the volume explores ways of conceiving time across disciplinary boundaries and across cultures revealing how the experience of time itself is mediated by embodied practices and disciplinary norms Everywhen brings Indigenous knowledges to bear on the study and meaning of the past and of history itself It seeks to draw attention to every when arguing that Native time concepts and practices are vital to understanding Native histories and further that they may offer a new framework for history as practiced in the Western academy
