Making Decisions That Matter Kathleen M. Galotti, 2005-08-22 Researchers studying decision making have traditionally studied the phenomenon in the laboratory with hypothetical decisions that may or may not involve the decision maker's values, passions, or areas of expertise. The assumption is that the findings of these well controlled laboratory studies will shed light on the important decisions people make in their everyday lives. This book examines that assumption. The volume begins by covering four basic phases of decision making: setting or clarifying goals, gathering information, structuring the decision, and making a final choice. Comprehensive reviews of existing literature on each of these topics is provided. Next, the author examines differences in decision making as a function of several factors not typically discussed in the literature: the type of decision being made (e.g., legal, medical, moral) and the existence of individual differences in the decision maker. Developmental differences, individual differences in style, or temperament differences as a function of expertise. The author then examines the topic of group decision making, contrasting it with individual decision making. The volume concludes with some observations and suggestions for improving people's everyday decision making. This book is intended for use as a core textbook or supplement for courses in psychology, education, or allied disciplines. It will also be an invaluable resource for people who work with people making decisions in various applied settings such as schools, universities, and health care centers.

Nelson, 2018-02-02 Living by Choice was written to help us better understand the power of our choices and that our choices not only define who we are today but ultimately the type of person we turn out to be The book is intended to help adults who want to make better choices in their lives parents who are teaching choice making skills to their children and young people working to gain insight into how to develop their lives The book stresses that each of us has the personal responsibility of managing our life and that we do so effectively or otherwise through the choices we make. The truth is most of us are so busy with our daily routines that we seldom stop to think about what is required to manage our lives effectively. We tend to live our lives one day at a time without an overall strategy for how best to do so. Many of us live without a clear insight into how our choices define who we are and ultimately what we achieve. To bring this subject into greater focus, Living by Choice was written to motivate individuals, younger ones and older ones, to stop and consider the choices they are making in their lives. You will not find the answers here and that was never the intention of the book. The ultimate answers about your life can only come from you. However, the book is intended to stimulate your thinking. Its basic objective is to help you think about your life and motivate you to make any choices needed to adjust the way you are living yours. To accomplish this, the book contains fourteen 14 sections including Managing Your Life, Being an Honest Person and Creating a Caring You. Within these fourteen sections, the book addresses eighty two 82 important choices that most of us face in life including The Choice to Be an Independent Thinker, The Choice to Let Love Guide Your Life and The Choice to Respect Our Differences, to name a few. Each choice topic provides a brief thinking experience requiring only a few minutes to read but providing thoughts and perspectives the reader may want to ponder much longer. For those who want to make personal notes for later reference, space is provided at the end of each section. We are indeed who we choose to be and Living by Choice serves as an important reminder of this fact.

This subchapter delves into the significance of decision making and how it can empower everyone to lead fulfilling lives. Decision making is an essential aspect of our existence. It allows us to assert control over our lives and shape our own destinies. By making thoughtful and informed choices we can align our actions with our values and aspirations. Whether it's choosing a college major or deciding on a business strategy, decision making enables us to pursue paths that resonate with our true selves. Moreover, decision making is a skill that can be honed and developed. By becoming adept at making decisions, we can navigate through life's challenges more effectively. Decision making involves analyzing options, considering consequences and weighing different possibilities. It helps us evaluate risks and rewards, ensuring that we make choices that lead to positive outcomes. Making decisions is not always easy as it often involves uncertainty and potential risks. However, avoiding decisions can be even more detrimental. Indecision can lead to missed opportunities, stagnation and a sense of powerlessness. By embracing decision making, we take control of our lives and open ourselves up to new possibilities. Furthermore, decision making is not just an individual endeavor; it affects those around us as well. Our choices impact our families, friends, colleagues and communities. By making thoughtful decisions, we can positively influence and inspire others. We become role models for those in our spheres of influence, encouraging them to make choices that align with their values.
