

SELF-ESTEEM

Self-esteem is a combination of thoughts and feelings a person has about themselves, and whether those thoughts are positive or negative.

DEFINITION

Rosenberg (1958) defined self-esteem as "a positive or negative attitude toward a particular object, namely, the self" (p. 30).

In this definition, self-esteem is an opinion about one's self-worth. People with a high self-esteem believe they have high self-worth, whereas people with low self-esteem are more cynical regarding their value.

EXAMPLE

- High self-esteem: A person that likes their personality and thinks they are good at tasks they put their mind to has high self-esteem.
- Low self-esteem: A person that thinks they have a lot of flaws and can't do things well has low self-esteem.

Myths and Misconceptions about Teaching Vicki Snider, 2006. Here author Vicki Snider describes six teaching myths that prevent reform in education. These myths affect all students but especially hurt low performing students, those with disabilities or risk factors. Based on her perspective as a longtime classroom teacher and teacher educator, Dr. Snider examines the beliefs that guide teaching practices. She uses current research on teaching and reading to illustrate the faulty premises that underlie the myths and how they ultimately affect children and adolescents. Together, these myths expose an approach to teaching that is highly contextual and idiosyncratic, leaving little room for the inherent absolutes in school reform efforts. The six myths are: Process, Fun, Eclectic instruction, Good teacher, Learning style, and Disability. Myths and Misconceptions about Teaching features: A description of the historical, sociological and philosophical forces that reinforce these myths; A comparison of the field of
