Translation and Violent Conflict

Moira Inghilleri, Sue-Ann Harding, 2010-01-30 First Published in 2010 Translators and interpreters are frequently found at the centre of attempts to wage war or negotiate peace between opposing factions Translation and interpreting also serve a vital function in communicating a conflict locally and globally as interested parties attempt to legitimize their actions appeal for assistance and enlist support for their cause and the condemnation of their stated enemy The unavoidable independent exercises of judgement that interpreters and translators make through their participation in or re narration of a conflict and the decisions that go with them provide clear and strong evidence for the lead role in the construction of meanings and identities that interpreters and translators assume in situations of conflict irrespective of their historical or geopolitical setting This special issue of The Translator explores the role of translators and interpreters in a number of conflicts from the 20th century to the present Drawing on fictional and non fictional texts legal and peacekeeping settings and reports from war zones contributors to this volume explore the overlapping themes of mediation agency and ethics in relation to translators and interpreters as they negotiate the political social cultural linguistic and ethical factors that converge often dangerously in situations of armed conflict

Reading Mennonite Writing Robert Zacharias,2022-05-17

Mennonite literature has long been viewed as an expression of community identity However scholars in Mennonite literary studies have urged a reconsideration of the field s past and a reconceptualization of its future This is exactly what Reading Mennonite Writing does Drawing on the transnational turn in literary studies Robert Zacharias positions Mennonite literature in North America as a mode of circulation and reading rather than an expression of a distinct community He tests this reframing with a series of methodological experiments that open new avenues of critical engagement with the field s unique configuration of faith based intercultural difference These include cross sectional readings in nonnarrative literary history archival readings of transatlantic life writing Canadian rewritings of Mexican film s deployment of Mennonite theology as fantasy an examination of the fetishistic structure of ethnicity as a thing that has enabled Mennonite identity to function in a post identity age and finally a tentative reinvestment in ideals of Mennonite community via the surprising routes of queerness and speculative fiction In so doing Zacharias reads Mennonite writing in North America as a useful case study in the shifting position of minor literatures in the wake of the transnational turn Theoretically sophisticated this study of minor transnationalism will appeal to specialists in Mennonite literature and to scholars working in the broader field of transnational literary studies

Ariel ,2018    Journal of Commonwealth and Postcolonial Studies ,2006    Publications of the Modern Language Association of America ,2006    Latin American Identities After 1980 Gordana Yovanovich,Amy Huras,2010-04-23 Latin American Identities After 1980 takes an interdisciplinary approach to Latin American social and cultural identities. With broad regional coverage and an emphasis on Canadian perspectives it focuses on Latin American contact with other cultures and nations. Its sound scholarship combines evidence based case studies with the Latin American tradition of the essay particularly in areas where the discourse of the establishment does not match political social and cultural realities and where it is difficult to uncover the purposely covert. This study of the cultural and social Latin America begins with an interpretation of the new Pax Americana designed in the 1980s by the North in agreement with the Southern elites. As the agreement ties the hands of national governments and establishes new regional and global strategies a pan Latin American identity is emphasized over individual national identities. The multi faceted impacts and effects of globalization in Bolivia Ecuador Mexico Cuba Brazil Chile Argentina and the Caribbean are examined with an emphasis on social change the transnationalization and commodification of Latin American and Caribbean arts and the adaptation of cultural identities in a globalized context as understood by Latin American authors writing from transnational perspectives. Latina/o Communication Studies Today Angharad N. Valdivia, 2008. This book brings together contemporary and exciting research within communication and Latina/o studies. Written in a clear accessible manner and based on original research drawn from a broad range of paradigms from textual analysis to reception studies and political economy. Latina/o Communication Studies Today provides an invaluable resource and excellent case studies for those already conducting research and teaching in Latina/o communication studies. The media studied include radio television cinema magazines and newspapers.

Kathy Acker and Transnationalism Polina Mackay, Kathryn Nicol, 2009. Since Kathy Acker's death in 1997 the body of critical work on her fiction has continued to grow and even to flourish. The continuing critical attention that her work has received is testament both to the complexity and intellectual scope of her many artistic and critical projects and to the continuing relevance of her concerns and ambitions in the recent and contemporary world a world that her fictions prefigure and interrogate in ways that we perhaps could not have recognized during her lifetime. This collection of essays provides readers with access to a range of critical and theoretical essays that present a detailed analysis of transnationalism in Kathy Acker TM's fiction. A wider aim of this book is to locate Acker TM's work in the context of current debates on transnationalism postnationalism and global identity. Kathy Acker and Transnationalism therefore constitutes a timely re appraisal of an important American writer and a contribution to the growing field of studies in transnationalism.
