Mind Watching:

Mind Watching Hans Jurgen Eysenck, Michael W. Eysenck, 1994 The Practice of self-inquiry. P.V.S.

SURYANARAYANA RAJU, 2012-02-09 Self inquiry does not demand any faith nor does it depend on any system of thought or belief. It demands integrated awareness and right effort which dissolve self-centred illusions, limitations and thus bring about the revelation of blissful reality. If you really want to help others you must discern your own limitation. We must note that self-inquiry is not a theology. A man protecting himself constantly through such knowledge is obviously not a truth-seeker. When you want to find something new, the mind must be quiet. If the mind is crowded, filled with the facts and borrowed knowledge, they act as the impediment to the new. The difficulty for most of us is that the mind, i.e. thought, has become so important so predominantly significant that it interferes constantly with anything that may be new with anything that may exist simultaneously with the known. Thus borrowed knowledge and learning are impediments for those who would seek for those who would try to understand that which is beyond thought.

Banka, 2015-05-26 My book My Cancer Journey: A rendezvous with myself is a candid narration of my encounter with breast cancer. It is the story of an ordinary woman who was put in extraordinary circumstances and who undertook her cancer journey with the utmost courage. This memoir is not just about describing a difficult medical condition. It is about going through the experience and emerging from it wiser and stronger. It is about using cancer as a life-changing experience despite all the trauma and the loss and the change needn't be for the worse. It is about understanding the choice that a human being has: the choice to accept what cannot be changed and to use one of the toughest fights of life to evolve into a better person irrespective of the prognosis. Pick up a copy to embark on a rendezvous with your inner self. A factual, informative and profound book truly from the heart. I highly recommend this book and it offers some important insights from holistic therapy. Lorraine Smillie, Homeopath and Holistic Healer, UK. Parul's account of her experience with breast cancer and what she found helpful will be a useful companion for other young women finding themselves in a similar situation. Dr Caroline Hoffman, OAM, PhD, clinical and research director, The Haven, London. This book is a very personal and very honest story of survival from breast cancer. Parul has shown enormous courage to emerge as a strong, determined woman with everything to live for. Beverley van der Molen, Macmillan Information and Education Officer, Paul's Cancer Support Centre and St Georges University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust and author of Taking Control of Cancer. Don't Tell Me I'm Going to Die Feroze

Moos,2009-01-30 These reflections on my terminal cancer have only one purpose in mind to bring together those who would heal and those who would be healed And to preserve protect and prolong life hold it sacred against all impediments and anyone who would have it otherwise They mirror the human predicament reflected in a single heart are written with no intent to harm and hold everybody harmless in an effort to save lives Some of the names have been altered to protect the innocent while others have been used with their permission Everything written and implied explicitly or implicitly is solely the perception of the author The story of my life struggling with the cancer in me and the cancer out there as I call it that would have had me dead before my time is an odyssey that allows one to look into oneself The fragility and insouciance of human nature is terrifying disheartening and inconceivable at times but nonetheless allows one to transcend it if one has the courage and tenacity to survive against all odds Thats what this story is all about I dedicate this book to all those who would unstintingly heal knowing what cannot be known hold life sacred and seek this truth so as to transcend themselves and act with compassion humility and unerring faith to help others survive
