Min Dag:

Quickborn Klaus Groth, 1899 Essential Fatty Acids and Eicosanoids Yongsheng Huang, Shing Shyong Lin, Bochao Huang, 2003-10-30 Evangelii Basun [weekly], 1904 Neurobiology of Essential Fatty Acids Nicolas G. Bazan, Mary G. Murphy, Gino Toffano, 2012-12-06 It is increasingly evident that polyunsaturated fatty acids PUFA which in the past were often believed to be mere components of cellular membranes of neural tissue are actually major determinants of the functional properties of neural cells and are intimately involved in brain disease processes The two families of PUF A which are derived from the essential polyenes linoleic 18 26 and a linolenic 18 33 acids constitute a major proportion 30% of the total fatty acids esterified to brain phospholipids Each family is distributed in membranes in a highly specific manner with respect to brain region cell type and position within each of the phosphoglycerides Unlike their behavior in other organs the PUF A components of brain turn over slowly and are relatively resistant to dietary modification Their unique distribution and stability suggest that they play an important role in determining the functional properties of neural cells However until recently very little was known regarding the precise nature of their involvement The Pharmacology of Lymphocytes Michael A. Bray, John Morley, 2012-12-06 Immunopharmacology why not pharmacimmunology Professor H O Schild University College London 1962 An intact immune response is essential for survival as is evidenced by the various innate immune deficiency syndromes and by the emergence of the acquired immune deficiency syndrome AIDS as a pandemic during the last decade Substances which stimulate the immune response might contribute to the therapy of AIDS and its precursor AIDS related syndrome as well as of other clinical conditions in which immune responses can be diminished such as carcinoma and infections In other circumstances an intact or heightened immune response may pose clinical problems hence there is need to suppress or diminish components of the immune response For instance it is necessary to impair cellular immunity in order to ensure lasting acceptance of heterografts and it is already established that agents effective in transplantation are therapeutically effective in an range of autoimmune diseases More recently experimental studies have indicated that aberrant manifestations of humoral immunity as in allergies may also be amenable to pharmacological intervention Nordiske Digtere i vort aarhundrede. Rother, Gerd O. Till, Gertrud M. Hänsch, 2012-12-06 The aim of the former editions remains unchanged in the present updated version namely to put forward a general and comprehensive review on complement It is intended not only for individual investigators working in this specific field but also for those who are less familiar with it Students or younger scientists will hopefully be stimulated and attracted by the fascination of complement biology Again it was clear from the beginning that the field has experienced an explosive expansion in various directions and continues to accumulate data too large to be dealt with by a single author in a critical and coherent manner The editors are grateful that the invited authors all of them leading scientists in their field helped again to make The Complement System a true mirror of the state of the art

Some parallels in the various chapters were accepted as was a particular emphasis on newer developments in some chapters
