Mystery Of Peace:

The Mystery of Peace George Thomas Smart,1909 The Mystery of Peace (Classic Reprint) George T. Smart,2015-08-04 Excerpt from The Mystery of Peace Is it not strange after so many Christian centuries that men are so generally unacquainted with peace And yet this mystery is one of the final gifts bestowed upon humanity by the great Teacher In some of the rare moments of personal life men have gained peace but they have not learned the secret of keeping it To day we seem to have fallen short even of the calm of classic antiquity We may be more earnest in our morality than the pagan life that antedated Christianity at least we are apt to hope so but we clearly miss some of the goods this life possessed Who is calm enough now to embark upon enterprises of the pith and moment these older men attempted Who among our sculptors carves a face that cheers the centuries or what architect knows the secret they did of quantum sufficit There was a wonderful heroism in those elders of a far off time who living in a world that needed spelling out much more than ours yet took up strong positions and refused to leave them for nothing About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works The divine mystery of peace [sermons]. James Baldwin Brown,1863 MYST OF PEACE George Thomas 1863 Smart,2016-08-28 The Mystery of Peace Arthur C. Theodora Hawksley, 2020-09-30 The Roman Catholic Church with its global reach centralized organization and more than 1.4 billion members could be one of the world's most significant forces in global peacemaking and yet its robust tradition of social teaching on peace is not widely known. In Peacebuilding and Catholic Social Teaching Theodora Hawksley aims to make that tradition better known and understood and to encourage its continued development in light of the lived experience of Catholics engaged in peacebuilding and conflict transformation worldwide. The first part of this book analyzes the development of Catholic social teaching on peace from the time of the early Church fathers to the present, drawing attention to points of tension and areas in need of development. The second part engages in constructive theological work exploring how the existing tradition might develop in order to support the efforts of Catholic peacebuilders and respond to the distinctive challenges of contemporary conflict. Peacebuilding and Catholic Social Teaching is one of the first scholarly monographs dedicated exclusively to theology, ethics, and peacebuilding. It will appeal to students and academics who specialize in Catholic social teaching and peacebuilding, to practitioners of Catholic peacebuilding, and to anyone with an interest in religion and peacebuilding more generally.

Dunne, whom Kenneth Woodward has called the most original religious thinker of our time, addresses the spirituality of nonviolence, which Dunne calls an unviolent way of life. Dunne shares Gandhi's vision of nonviolence as a spiritual discipline, a learning to love that leads to a seeing of truth. The book is the result of three trips Dunne took to Santiago, Chile, where he lectured on the spirituality of nonviolence. It is also based on conversations that the author had with religious scholar David Daube, philosopher and critic René Girard, and psychologist Erik Erikson.
