Maps Of Englishness:

Maps of Englishness Simon Gikandi, 1996 Gikandi explores the politics of identity to analyze how the colonial experience inspired narrative forms that changed the nature of the English identity by surveying the British imperial tradition since the nineteenth century. He provides detailed readings of the works of Trollope, Carlyle, and others through the narratives of imperial women travelers such as Mary Kingsley and Mary Seacole and through Africanist texts by Joseph Conrad, Graham Greene, and postcolonialists such as Salman Rushdie and Joan Riley. The Oxford Handbook of Daniel Defoe Nicholas Seager, J. A. Downie, 2024-02-29 Across his vast oeuvre which includes books, pamphlets, and periodicals, Daniel Defoe commented on virtually every development and issue of his lifetime, a turbulent and transformative period in British and global history. This Handbook offers the most comprehensive overview available of his life, times, writings, and reception.

Step-daughters of England Jane Garrity, 2003 By reading the work of the British modernists Dorothy Richardson, Sylvia Townsend Warner, Mary Butts, and Virginia Woolf through the lens of material culture, this text argues that women's imaginative work is inseparable from their ambivalent, complicated relation to Britain's imperial history. The Intimate Empire Gillian Whitlock, 2000 The Intimate Empire explores the interconnections between race, gender, autobiography, and colonialism and uses a method of reading which looks for connections between very different autobiographical writings.

An Imaginary England Roger Ebbatson, Ann Donahue, 2005 In his highly theorised and original book, Roger Ebbatson traces the emergence of conceptions of England and Englishness from 1840 to 1920. His study concentrates on poetry and fiction by authors such as Alfred Lord Tennyson, Richard Jefferies, Thomas Hardy, Q. Rupert Brooke, and D. H. Lawrence, reading them as a body of work through which a series of problematic English identities are imaginatively constructed. Of particular concern is the way literary landscapes serve as signs not only of identity but also of difference. Ebbatson demonstrates how a sense of cultural rootedness is contested during the period by the experiences of those on the societal margins, whether sexual, national, social, or racial, resulting in a feeling of homelessness even in the most self-consciously English texts. In the face of gradual imperial and industrial decline, Ebbatson argues, foreign and colonial cultures played a crucial role in transforming Englishness from a stable body of values and experiences into a much more ambiguous concept in continuous conflict with factors on the geographical or psychological periphery. Journal of Commonwealth and Postcolonial Studies, 2006

Cartographies of Exclusion Asa Simon Mittman, 2024-06-18 From the battles over Jerusalem to the emergence of the Holy Land, from legally mandated ghettos to the Edict of Expulsion, geography has long been a component of Christian-Jewish relations. Attending to world maps drawn by medieval Christian mapmakers, Cartographies of Exclusion brings us to the literal drawing board of Christendom and shows the creation in real time of a mythic state intended to dehumanize the non-Christian people it ultimately sought to displace. In his close analyses of English maps from the twelfth and thirteenth centuries, Asa Mittman makes a valuable contribution to conversations about medieval Christian perceptions of Jews and Judaism Grounding his arguments in the history of anti Jewish sentiment and actions rampant in twelfth and thirteenth century England Mittman shows how English world maps of the period successfully Othered Jewish people by means of four primary strategies conflating Jews with other groups spreading libels about Jewish bodies beliefs and practices associating Jews with Satan and most importantly cartographically mislocating Jews in time and space On maps Jews were banished to locations and historical moments with no actual connection to Jewish populations or histories Medieval Christian anti-Semitism is the foundation upon which modern anti-Semitism rests and the medieval mapping of Jews was crucial to that foundation Mittman's thinking offers essential insights for any scholar interested in the interface of cartography politics and religion in premodern Europe NWSA Journal, 2001 Meeting of Board of Regents University of Michigan. Board of Regents, 1996-05 British Naturalists in China, 1760-1910 Fa-ti Fan, 1999 Postcolonial African Cinema Kenneth W.
