Maps And Map Makers

Charles Bricker, Ronald Vere Tooley

Maps And Map Makers:

Maps and Map-makers Ronald Vere Tooley,1978 Information on principal map makers and publishers is given from the earliest times to the 19th century combining an appreciation of the popular decorative side of early maps with historical and bibliographical notes The book which is a guide for students and collectors is organized in national schools covering the whole world Related specialist texts are cited for further study American Maps and Map Makers of the Revolution

Peter J. Guthorn,1966 This book is arranged in orderly fashion A short biography of each map maker is followed by a list of his known maps Though frequently fragmentary and based on secondary sources many of the biographical sketches appear in print here for the first time A great number of the maps are likewise newly discovered Each map is briefly described and its repository indicated The introduction gives additional valuable data Foreword The Maps and Map-makers of Maryland

Edward Bennett Mathews,1898 Mapping Time and Space Evelyn Edson,1997 Until recently medieval maps were often looked upon as quaint amusing and quite simply wrong By comparison the best examples of modern cartography appear to offer a much more accurate record of the world However as Professor Edson makes clear in this stimulating book when seeking the meaning and purpose of maps in the Middle Ages one cannot assume that they were used for the same purposes or had the same meaning as they do today In fact the differences in structure and content give us an intriguing insight into how medieval mapmakers and readers saw their world By a close study of the context in which the mapmakers produced their work it can be shown that they were often striving to present and make sense of a world picture that naturally incorporated key events from the past at the same time showing a narrative of human spiritual development from the Creation to the Last Judgment From publisher s description Landmarks of Mapmaking Charles Bricker,Ronald Vere

Tooley,1968 The World Map, 1300-1492 Evelyn Edson,2007-07-15 A history of the development of world maps during the later medieval period in the centuries leading up to Columbus s journey In the two centuries before Columbus mapmaking was transformed The World Map 1300 1492 investigates this important transitional period of mapmaking Beginning with a 1436 atlas of ten maps produced by Venetian Andrea Bianco Evelyn Edson uses maps of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries to examine how the discoveries of missionaries and merchants affected the content and configuration of world maps She finds that both the makers and users of maps struggled with changes brought about by technological innovation the compass quadrant and astrolabe rediscovery of classical mapmaking approaches and increased travel To reconcile the tensions between the conservative and progressive worldviews mapmakers used a careful blend of the old and the new to depict a world that was changing and growing before their eyes This engaging and informative study reveals how the ingenuity creativity and adaptability of these craftsmen helped pave the way for an age of discovery A comprehensive and complex picture of the changing face of medieval geography With the mastery of a formidable palette of historiographic knowledge and well reasoned discussions of the sources The World Map 1300 1492 will certainly remain an important work to consult for both medieval and early modern scholars for many years to come Ian J Aebel Terrae Incognitae

Map Worlds Will C. van den Hoonaard, 2013-09-21 Map Worlds plots a journey of discovery through the world of women mapmakers from the golden age of cartography in the sixteenth century Low Countries to tactile maps in contemporary Brazil. Author Will C. van den Hoonaard examines the history of women in the profession, sets out the situation of women in technical fields and cartography-related organizations, and outlines the challenges they face in their careers. Map Worlds explores women as colourists in early times, describes the major houses of cartographic production, and delves into the economic function of intermarriages among cartographic houses and families. It relates how in later centuries working from the margins women produced maps to record painful tribal memories or sought to remedy social injustices. Much later one woman so changed the way we think about continents that the shift has been likened to the Copernican revolution. Other women created order and wonder about the lunar landscape, and still others turned the art and science of making maps inside out, exposing the hidden unconscious and subliminal text of maps. Shared by all these mapmakers are themes of social justice and making maps work for the betterment of humanity.

Old Maps & Map Makers of Scotland John Elliot Shearer, 1905 American Maps and Mapmakers Walter William Ristow, 1985 The

Mapmakers' Quest David Buisseret, 2003-05-22 In 1400 Europe was behind large parts of the world in its understanding of the use of maps. For instance, the people of China and of Japan were considerably more advanced in this respect. And yet by 1600 the Europeans had come to use maps for a huge variety of tasks and were far ahead of the rest of the world in their appreciation of the power and use of cartography. The Mapmakers' Quest seeks to understand this development not only to tease out the strands of thought and practice which led to the use of maps but also to assess the ways in which such use affected European societies and economies. Taking as a starting point the question of why there were so few maps in Europe in 1400 and so many by 1650, the book explores the reasons for this and its implications for European history. It examines inter al how mapping and military technology advanced in tandem how modern states territories were mapped and borders drawn up the role of maps in shaping the urban environment and cartography's links to the new sciences Devon Maps and Map-makers Mary R. Ravenhill, Margery Mary Rowe, 2002 Tooley's Dictionary of Mapmakers Ronald Vere Tooley, 1979 Provides information on about twenty thousand cartographers, engravers and publishers active from the earliest times to 1900. The present work is a revised expanded and completed edition of the incomplete series of listings that appeared intermittently in the now discontinued Map Collector's Circle Making Maps John Krygier, Denis Wood, 2024-11-08 Prized for its creative design, original art and playful accessible writing, Making Maps is now in a thoroughly updated fourth edition. The text is restructured to emphasize the importance of the map making process. All components of map making are covered and are brought to life in the expanded graphic novella threaded through the text. Updates include new coverage of data aggregation, artificial intelligence, feminist and Indigenous perspectives, map making workflow and more. Design choices are emphasized and linked to the reasons for making a map. Featuring more than 80 color illustrations and a unique layout, the book includes an annotated map exemplar used throughout the text, extensive map examples and a companion website. New to This Edition: New or expanded topics include graduated symbol maps, multivariate choropleth maps, visual storytelling maps, and gerrymandering. Artificial intelligence workflow and more. Integration of practical ideas from Indigenous and feminist perspectives. Coverage of color and type is shifted earlier in the book and the chapters on map symbolization and abstraction now conclude the book with many compelling new maps. Maps and Map-Makers, By R.V. Christopher Saxton, Elizabethan Map-maker Ifor M. Evans, Heather Lawrence, 1979 Christopher Saxton was a surveyor by profession.
