Parliamentary Papers Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons, 1820      The Priory of Llanthony Prima and Secunda in Ireland, 1172-1541 Arlene Hogan, 2008 When Henry II departed Ireland in 1172 he handed over to Hugh de Lacy I the generous gift of the land of Meath an enormous tract of land which covered the modern counties of Meath Westmeath and parts of Longford and Offaly The tithes of this land together with lands in Dublin were granted to his favoured house of Llanthony situated on his estates in the valley of Ewias in Wales The subsequent arrival in Ireland of the knights of Hugh de Lacy I and the settlement of many of his Irish lands is recorded in the charters contained in the Irish cartularies of Llanthony Prima and Secunda The growth of the Llanthony estates in Ireland both in terms of landholding and the holding of ecclesiastical revenues in the form of tithes can be mapped from a reading of the Llanthony charters in chronological order For the most part the charters are concerned with the tithes of land and ecclesiastical benefices both in the lordship of Meath and outside granted to them by Hugh de Lacy I his family and knights and with the subsequent documentation in relation to those grants A survey of the later charters reveals a complex prosopographical pattern of familial ties interwoven with the tenacious patronage and advocacy of the landed gentry who identified with Llanthony down through the centuries from the earliest settlement in the twelfth century until the Dissolution in the sixteenth a period of almost four hundred years      A Commentary Michael Jermin, 1639      Signs of the Literary Times William O'Rourke, 1993-01-01 This book is O Rourke s first volume of nonfiction since his 1972 The Harrisburg 7 and the New Catholic Left which Garry Wills hailed as a clinical x ray of our society s condition That book prompted Herbert Mitgang to name O Rourke one of the finest writers of his generation Signs of the Literary Times provides new evidence for that assessment It brings together O Rourke s unique mixture of literary political and cultural criticism published periodically during the last twenty two years The collection ranges from autobiographical essays describing his generation s literary evolution to articles on free speech issues such as nude dancing and the Bush era NEA controversies as well as book reviews that provide a fresh and largely uncharted critical map of the period O Rourke is not only interested in genre bending and expansion but in persevering during this age of academic specialization as in his phrase a person of letters In the two decades between his first work of nonfiction and this volume O Rourke has published three highly acclaimed novels The Meekness of Isaac 1974 Idle Hands 1981 and Criminal Tendencies 1987 Of the last The Virginia Quarterly Review wrote Of all the novelists paraded in recent years by publishers as natural successors to Graham Greene this one comes the closest A thoroughly entertaining literary event Signs of the Literary Times is not so much a compendium of diverse pieces on various subjects as it is a cogent and continuing x ray of our society s condition      Some Documents Relating to the History of the Parish and Vicarage of Great Givendale with Grimthorpe, and of the Parish and Vicarage of Millington with East Or Little Givendale Lucy Singleton, 1870      A Manual of Histology and of Histological Methods J.
