Noise From The Writing Center:

Noise From The Writing Center Elizabeth Boquet, 2002-03 In Noise from the Writing Center Boquet develops a theory of noise and excess as an important element of difference between the pedagogy of writing centers and the academy in general. Addressing administrative issues, Boquet strains against the bean counting anxiety that seems to drive so much of writing center administration. Pedagogically, she urges a more courageous practice developed via metaphors of music and improvisation and argues for noise excess and performance as uniquely appropriate to the education of writers and tutors in the center. Personal even irreverent in style, Boquet is also theoretically sophisticated and she draws from an eclectic range of work in academic and popular culture from Foucault to Attali to Jimi Hendrix. She includes as well the voices of writing center tutors with whom she conducted research and she finds some of her most inspiring moments in the words and work of those tutors.

The Writing Center as Cultural and Interdisciplinary Contact Zone Randall W. Monty, 2016-05-05 Writing centers are complex. They are places of scholarly work, spaces of interdisciplinary interaction and programs of service among other things. With this complexity in mind, this book theorizes writing center studies as a function of its own rhetorical and discursive practices. In other words, the things we do and make define who we are and what we value. Through a comprehensive methodological framework grounded in critical discourse analysis, this book takes a closer look at prominent writing center discourses by temporarily shifting attention away from the stakeholders, work locations and scholarship of the discipline and onto things, the artifacts and networks that make up the discipline. Through this approach, we can see the ways the discipline reinforces, challenges, reproduces and subverts structures of institutional power. As a result, writing center studies can be seen as a vast ecosystem of interconnectivity and intertextuality.

Everyday Writing Center Anne Ellen Geller, Michele Eodice, Frankie Condon, Meg Carroll, Elizabeth H. Boquet, 2007-04-01 The Everyday Writing Center challenges some of the most comfortable traditions in its field and it does so with a commitment and persuasiveness that one seldom sees in scholarly discussion. The book at its core is an argument for a new writing center consciousness, one that makes the most of the writing center's unique and uniquely fluid identity. Writing center specialists live with a liminality that has been acknowledged but not fully explored in the literature Their disciplinary identity is with the English department but their mission is cross disciplinary their research is pedagogical but they often report to central administration Their education is in humanities but their administrative role demands constant number crunching This fluid identity explains why Trickster an icon of spontaneity shape shifting and the creative potential of chaos has come to be a favorite cultural figure for the authors of this book Adapting Lewis Hyde and others these authors use Trickster to develop a theme of ordinary disruptions the everyday as a source of provocative learning moments that can liberate both student writers and writing center staff At the same time the authors parlay Etienne Wenger s concept of community of practice into an ethos for a dynamic learner centered pedagogy that is especially well suited to the peculiar teaching situation of the writing center Through Trickster they question not only accepted approaches to writing center pedagogy but conventional approaches to race time leadership and collaboration as well They encourage their field to exploit the creative potential in ordinary events that are normally seen as disruptive or defeating and they challenge traditions in the field that tend to isolate a writing center director from the department and campus Yet all is not random for the authors anchor this high risk high yield approach in their commitment to a version of Wenger s community of practice Conceiving of themselves their colleagues student writers and student tutors as co learners engaged together in a dynamic life of learning the authors find a way to ground the excess and randomness of the everyday while advancing an ethic of mutual respect and self challenge Committed to testing a region beyond the edge of convention the authors of The Everyday Writing Center constantly push themselves and their field toward deeper more significant research and more reflective dynamic teaching

What's So Liberal about the Liberal Arts? Paul W. Lewis, Martin William Mittelstadt, 2016-04-27 FRAMEWORKS is a series dedicated to interdisciplinary studies on the integration of faith and learning Given Jesus command to love God with heart soul mind and strength the time is ripe for confessional scholarship and education across the disciplines We implore God s Spirit to change us through the great works of history and literature alongside developments in science psychology and economics and all of this through intense engagement with the Scriptures We want to celebrate God s work across the disciplines We seek the likes of psychologists in conversation with philosophers ethicists with historians biblical scholars with rhetoricians scientists with economists environmentalists with neurologists As these conversations continue across the disciplines the framework from which to draw our individual and collective testimonies will only enlarge We invite you to think behave preach sing pray research and indeed to live this multi faceted journey with us If indeed our stories are never complete we invite future contributors and readers to join us in pursuit of deeper personal and collective transformation

Creative Approaches to Writing Center Work Kevin Dvorak, Shanti Bruce, 2008 This is the first book length attempt to address the role creativity plays in writing centers Beginning with the premise that creativity has the potential to make work and learning environments more productive and possibly more dangerous the ideals in this collection will complicate visions of what writing centers can and should be Striking a balance between theory and practice readers will learn about creative tutor training and staff meeting activities how to use toys to tutor and how to tutor creative writers and finally how to implement creative outreach programs Those who are in search of ways to infuse their centers with creativity and fun will find this book to be an invaluable inspirational resource WPA, Writing Program Administration ,2004 Exploring Composition Studies Kelly Ritter,Paul Kei Matsuda,2012-04-30 Kelly Ritter and Paul Kei Matsuda have created an essential introduction to the field of composition studies for graduate students and instructors new to the study of writing The book offers a careful exploration of this diverse field focusing specifically on scholarship of writing and composing Within this territory the authors draw the boundaries broadly to include allied sites of research such as professional and technical writing writing across the curriculum programs writing centers and writing program administration Importantly they represent composition as a dynamic eclectic field influenced by factors both within the academy and without The editors and their sixteen seasoned contributors have created a comprehensive and thoughtful exploration of composition studies as it stands in the early twenty first century Given the rapid growth of this field and the evolution of it research and pedagogical agendas over even the last ten years this multi vocal introduction is long overdue The University of Michigan-Flint Writing Center Ann Russell,1997 Facing the Center Harry C. Denny,2010-03-20 In the diversity of their clients as well as their professional and student staff writing centers present a complicated set of relationships that inevitably affect the instruction they offer In Facing the Center Harry Denny unpacks the identity matrices that enrich teachable moments and he explores the pedagogical dynamics and implications of identity within the writing center The face of the writing center be it mainstream or marginal majority or miority orthodox or subversive always has implications for teaching and learning Facing the Center will extend current research in writing center theory to bring it in touch with theories now common in cultural studies curricula Denny takes up issues of power agency language and meaning and pushes his readers to ask how they themselves or the centers in which they work might be perpetuating cultures that undermine inclusive progressive education On Location Candace Spigelman,Laurie Grobman,2005 Classroom based writing tutoring is a distinct form of writing support a hybrid instructional method that engages multiple voices and texts within the college classroom Tutors work on location in the thick of writing instruction and writing activity On Location is the first volume to discuss this emerging practice in a methodical way The essays in this collection integrate theory and practice to highlight the alliances and connections on location tutoring offers while suggesting strategies for resolving its conflicts Contributors examine classroom based tutoring programs located in composition courses as well as in writing intensive courses across the disciplines Everyday Writing Center Anne Ellen Geller,Michele Eodice,Frankie Condon,Meg Carroll,Elizabeth H. Boquet,2006-12-28 In a landmark collaboration five co authors develop a theme of ordinary disruptions the everyday as a source of provocative learning moments that can liberate both student writers and writing center staff At the same time the authors parlay Etienne Wenger s concept of community of practice into an ethos of a dynamic learner centered pedagogy that is especially well suited to the peculiar teaching situation of the writing center They push themselves and their field toward deeper more significant research more self conscious teaching

Digital Sound Studies Mary Caton Lingold, Darren Mueller, Whitney Trettien, 2018-10-26 This volume's contributors explore the transformative potential of digital sound studies to create rich multisensory experiences within scholarship building on the work of digital humanists to evaluate and historicize new technologies and forms of knowledge
