Older Adulthood:

Aging and Older Adulthood Joan T. Erber, 2005 Filled with examples that reflect the diversity of the world we live in Erber's accessible yet science based book focuses on research and theory that add to our understanding of aging and older adulthood. Erber organizes the book around complementary big point of view theories that focus on successful aging and successful adaptation such as selective optimization with compensation as well as on those that emphasize matching the person's competencies with demands of the environment such as the ecological model. To ensure that students acquire a big picture understanding of the theory's application, Erber closes each chapter with a discussion of these theoretical models.

A Journey Called Aging James C. Fisher, Henry C. Simmons, 2007 Understand the sequential stages in the aging process. A Journey Called Aging Challenges and Opportunities in Older Adulthood presents an insightful exploration of the years between the entry into older adulthood and death. This text examines the significant changes and major landmarks of older persons between 60 and 90. Grounded by a developmental framework based on empirical research, this book presents a new way of looking at older adulthood, describing the older adult years in intensely human terms through both anecdotes and research based findings to engage the reader as both guide and traveler. Using a series of sequential stages as a framework, A Journey Called Aging Challenges and Opportunities in Older Adulthood discusses the experiences of older adults addressing the challenges and opportunities presented at each stage. This clear analysis can be used as a guide to help persons plan their own odyssey through the older years. Topics in A Journey Called Aging Challenges and Opportunities in Older Adulthood include research and results of the study entering older adulthood, the long stable stage of Extended Middle Age, Early Transition, Older Adult Lifestyle, Later Transition, the stable stage near the end of life, the final transition. A Journey Called Aging Challenges and Opportunities in Older Adulthood is crucial reading for professionals who work with older adults, including pastors, attorneys, facilities managers, and program directors, gerontology educators and students, and older adults themselves, their families and those who care for and about them.

What Matters for Health and Happiness Among the Older Adults in Asia Nai Peng Tey, Halimah Awang, Shekhar Chauhan, 2024-03-11 People want to live a healthy and happy later life. A large body of literature shows the close association between health status and happiness and between health and active engagement in work, exercise and social and religious activities. However, the causation between the two can run both ways and it is difficult to determine the causal effect with cross sectional data. Various authors have shown the significant influence of socioeconomic factors and human needs on older people's health status and happiness. A better understanding of the factors affecting healthy and happy aging is essential for policymaking to improve the well-being of older people. The availability of data from HRS family studies in several Asian countries (CHARLS in China, LASI in India, JSTAR in Japan, KLoSA in Korea, IFLS in Indonesia, HART in Thailand, MARS in Malaysia, and Longitudinal Study of Ageing and Health in Viet Nam; see Gateway to Global Aging Data) provides an excellent opportunity for researchers to examine factors affecting health and happiness among older adults within and across Asian countries. This research topic aims to gather papers that investigate the socioeconomic, attitudinal and behavioural factors affecting the health status and happiness/life satisfaction of older adults in Asia. The dependent variables may include physical health, mental health, disability, ADL, IADL, cognitive functioning, self-rated health, health expenditure, feeling of happiness and life satisfaction. The independent variables may be age, gender, marital status, place of residence, educational level, active engagement, work, exercise, social and religious activities, family and social relationship and support, outlook in life, smoking, drinking and access to and utilization of healthcare services, etc. Manuscripts can be based on individual countries or cross country analysis, preferably using the panel data to establish the causal effects of the independent variables on the dependent variables.

Great Myths of Aging Joan T. Erber, Lenore T. Szuchman, 2014-10-20. Great Myths of Aging looks at the generalizations and stereotypes associated with older people and with a blend of humor and cutting edge research dispels those common myths. Reader friendly structure breaks myths down into categories such as Body, Mind and Living Contexts and looks at myths from Older people lose interest in sex to Older people are stingy. Explains the origins of myths and misconceptions about aging. Looks at the unfortunate consequences of anti aging stereotypes for both the reader and older adults in society.

Innovations in Older Adult Care and Health Service Management: A Focus on China Madhan Balasubramanian, Angie Shafei, Zhanming

Liang, 2024-06-19. Population aging is a consistent global demographic trend. The growth in both the size and proportion of older adults has threatened the sustainability of health systems in meeting healthcare needs of the population. Countries in the Asia Pacific Region may face even more complex health system challenges due to the diversity in culture, management and leadership styles, composition of health service provision, investment in research infrastructure and innovation, adaptation data availability and gaps in information technology.

Caring for the Older Adult Patricia O'Neill, 2002-01-01. CARING FOR THE OLDER ADULT A HEALTH PROMOTION PERSPECTIVE is a concise, straightforward LPN/LVN textbook covering the essentials of gerontologic nursing from a strong health promotion perspective. The nature of normal aging as well as disorders common to the elderly are discussed. This resource also addresses concepts and issues related to promoting both physical and psychological health in an aging population. The engaging, easy-to-read informal writing style draws the reader into the subject while conveying important information.

Adult Development and Aging Julie Hicks-Patrick, Dr. Bert Hayslip (Jr), Lisa Hollis-Sawyer (Professor), 2020.

Adult Development and Aging Bert Hayslip, Paul E. Panek, Julie Hicks-Patrick, 2007. Presents a view of the adult years that is topical in nature rather than chronological given the tremendous variability among adults and older persons. This book includes chapters that are arranged to first lay the groundwork for thinking about adult development and then deal with basic psychobiological processes.

Still Growing Donald Capps, 2015-03-26. The later adult years are commonly viewed as a period in which one struggles to maintain a vestige of the physical, mental and emotional vitality of one's earlier years. In Still Growing, however, Donald Capps shows that older adulthood is actually a period of growth and development and that a central feature of this growth and development is the remarkable creativity of older adults. This creativity is the consequence of the wisdom gained through years of experience but is also due to a newly developed capacity to adapt to unprecedented challenges integral to the aging process. In Part 1 Capps illustrates the challenges of transitioning to older adulthood from the author's own experiences while in Part 2 he draws on material from Erik H. Erikson, Sigmund Freud, and Paul W. Pruyser to account for longevity, adaptability, and creativity in older adults. Finally, in part 3 he focusses on the work of both William James and Walt Disney to fashion a model of creative aging. Late Adulthood Richard A. Kalish, 1975 Describes the basic physiological and psychological processes of aging and defines the physical and social environmental needs of the elderly. Analyses on Health Status and Care

Needs among Older Adults Jian Sun, Hongye Luo, Yi Zeng, 2025-09-12 Globally a shift in population structures and disease spectrum is inevitable. The latest global burden of disease study revealed that the average healthy life expectancy has steadily increased from 1990 to 2019 worldwide. However, there is a concerning trend in which the growth in healthy life expectancy is lower than the growth in life expectancy in 198 out of 204 countries evaluated. This implies that people spend more time in sub optimal health despite living longer. Moreover, non-communicable diseases contribute an increasingly significant portion of the disease burden in low and middle income countries, growing from one third to almost two thirds from 1990 to 2019. This mainly results from preventable risk factors. It is important to approach aging with a positive outlook. This entails guaranteeing sufficient medical care and proactively managing health issues in older adults. Importantly, since several diseases are often irreversible, prevention is key. Social and psychological factors due to their nebulous harm have struggled to gain attention over a long period. We should aim to make the additional years gained during old age as healthful as those in other life stages. Interpersonal Communication in Older Adulthood Mary Lee Hummert, 1994-09-13 By highlighting the commonalities across a range of disciplines, this volume provides a unique and broad-based perspective on communication and ageing. This integrative approach brings together the best of current research and theory from communication, cognitive psychology, psycholinguistics, and medical sociology. Centring on three topics: cognition, language, and relationships, the book explores the individual areas as well as the ways in which they intersect. It brings to light the implications of individual differences among members of the elderly population as they affect communication and illustrates the positive as well as the negative effects of the ageing process on language production, relational satisfaction, and Adult Development and Aging Richard Schulz, Robert B. Ewen, 1988 Residential Choices and Experiences of Older Adults John A. Krout, PhD, 2003-06-10 Based on the Pathways to Life Quality longitudinal research study, this book explores the ways in which older adults' residential choices impact their health and well-being. The study examines the factors associated with life quality for persons living on their own in the local community as well as those in various housing arrangements such as a continuing care retirement facility, adult home, income subsidized housing, and senior apartments.

Topics include plans and adjustment to moving role identities social relationships participation and integration health and activity patterns and coping with life events Body Dysmorphic Disorder and the Treatment of Older Adults Alexis Williams,2004 Contemporary Adulthood Jeffrey S. Helms,1982 Provides an account of the four stages of adulthood young adulthood the middle years the retirement years and death and dying Has photographs charts tables and text related cartoons Each chapter ends with an annotated bibliography Ends with a glossary and bibliography
