Or Else Robert Penn Warren, 1974      Or Else--poem/poems 1968-1974 Robert Penn Warren, 1974      The Language of Vision Joseph R. Millichap, 2016-06-06 The Language of Vision celebrates and interprets the complementary expressions of photography and literature in the South Southern imagery and text affect one another explains Joseph R. Millichap as intertextual languages and influential visions Focusing on the 1930s and including significant works both before and after this preeminent decade Millichap uncovers fascinating convergences between mediums particularly in the interplay of documentary realism and subjective modernism Millichap's subjects range from William Faulkner's fiction perhaps the best representation of literary and graphic tensions of the period and the work of other major figures like Robert Penn Warren and Eudora Welty to specific novels including Ralph Ellison's Invisible Man and James Agee's Let Us Now Praise Famous Men Fleshing out historical and cultural background as well as critical and theoretical context Millichap shows how these texts echo and inform the visual medium to reveal personal insights and cultural meanings Warren's fictions and poems Millichap argues redefine literary and graphic tensions throughout the late twentieth century Welty's narratives and photographs reinterpret gender race and class and Ellison's analysis of race in segregated America draws from contemporary photography Millichap also traces these themes and visions in Natasha Trethewey's contemporary poetry and prose revealing how the resonances of these artistic and historical developments extend into the new century This groundbreaking study reads southern literature across time through the prism of photography offering a brilliant formulation of the dialectic art forms      Robert Penn Warren After Audubon Joseph R. Millichap, 2009-12 Robert Penn Warren after Audubon embraces research on developmental psychology gerontology and end of life studies to offer provocative new readings of Warren's later poems seeing in them an autobiographical epic focused on the process of aging the inevitability of death and the possibility of transcendence Among the autobiographical elements the author identifies are Warren's loneliness during his later years his alternating feelings of personal satisfaction and emptiness toward his literary achievements and at times the impotence of memory The author concludes that the finest of all of Warren's literary efforts can be found in his later works after Audubon A Vision      Robert Penn Warren, Shadowy Autobiography, and Other Makers of American Literature Joseph R. Millichap, 2023-08-18 Toward the end of his career Robert Penn Warren wrote It may be said that our lives are our own supreme fiction Although lauded for his writing in multiple genres Warren never wrote an autobiography Instead he created his own shadowy autobiography in his poetry and prose as well as his fiction and nonfiction As one of the most thoughtful scholars on Robert Penn Warren and the literature of the South Joseph Millichap builds on the accepted idea that Warren's poetry and fiction became more autobiographical in his later years by demonstrating that that same progression is replicated in Warren's literary criticism This meticulously researched study reexamines in particular Warren's later nonfiction in which autobiographical concerns come into play that is in those fraught with psychological crisis such as Democracy and Poetry Millichap reveals the interrelated literary genres of autobiography criticism and poetry as psychological modes encompassing the interplay of Warren's life and work in his later nonfiction. He also shows how Warren's critical engagement with major American authors often centered on the ways their creative work intersected with their lives thus generating both autobiographical criticism and the working out of Warren's own autobiography under these influences. Millichap's latest book focuses on Warren's critical responses to William Faulkner, John Crowe Ransom, Herman Melville, Nathaniel Hawthorne, John Greenleaf Whittier, and Theodore Dreiser. In addition, the author carefully considers the black and female writers Warren assessed more briefly in American Literature: The Makers and the Making. Robert Penn Warren, Shadowy Autobiography and Other Makers of American Literature presents the breadth of Millichap's scholarship, the depth of his insight, and the maturity of his judgment by giving us to understand that in his writing Robert Penn Warren came to know his own vocation as a poet and critic and as an American. Then and Now Floyd C. Watkins, 2014-07-15 Taking a new approach to the study of Robert Penn Warren's imposing and still growing poetic canon, Floyd C. Watkins has found in the poems what he describes as a poetic autobiography unparalleled in American letters. Drawing on interviews with Warren, members of his family, and contemporaries from his hometown but keeping the poetry itself constantly at the center of his vision, Watkins shows how the poetry has grown from the experience of the boy and man and from his contemplation of his family's and his country's history. He traces through the poems a family chronicle moving from the frontier to the late twentieth century and set in a landscape that is clearly derived from the Kentucky of Warren's boyhood. The little town of Guthrie, divided by railroad tracks with its two burial grounds for whites and blacks, becomes in the poems a town of both memory and imagination, peopled by characters many of whom are recognizable to Warren's contemporaries. The images of a black man fleeing through swampy woods outside the town, of a grayfaced man who led a lynch mob, of a mad druggist making a list of people to poison, all have counterparts in Guthrie's history. Then and Now is a revealing and provocative study of the poetic process in a poet who is thought of as the originator of the biographical fallacy.

Selected Letters of Robert Penn Warren Robert Penn Warren, 2011-06-14 The years 1969 and 1979 bookend a volatile decade in American history. As an articulate witness to the era of the Vietnam War, Watergate, Jimmy Carter, and the national malaise, Robert Penn Warren produced a phenomenal body of work securing his place in the canon of American poetry. Volume five of Selected Letters of Robert Penn Warren, Backward Glances and New Visions 1969-1979, includes Warren's letters to friends, family, peers, editors, inquiring scholars, and critics, recording the details of his personal and professional life and illustrating his pivotal role in twentieth-century American literature. In these turbulent but fruitful years, Warren produced both Audubon: A Vision (1969) and the revised version of Brother to Dragons (1979). In between lay some of Warren's most searching work as poet, novelist, literary critic, and social commentator. During this era, Warren's achievements included his highly experimental and complex Or Else (Poem Poems, 1974) and the Pulitzer Prize-winning Now and Then (1978). Before the end of the 1970s three more novels appeared concluding with his final book of fiction A Place to Come To This volume provides insight into Warren's inspiration during a remarkably productive era and will prove an essential resource on his life and work
