Order Without Design Information Production And Policy Making:

Order Without Design Martha S. Feldman, 2022 In this lively and ultimately disturbing study of policy analysts who are employed in bureaucracies the author finds a startling paradox The analysts know that the papers they so painstakingly prepare will not be used as one analyst remarked Either it won't get done in time or it won't be good enough or the person who wanted it done will have left and no one will know what to do with it or the issue will no longer exist Yet the analysts continue to work at producing these papers The means of producing information is at the heart of the paradox The process systematically produces information that is difficult to use directly in decision making Yet analysts can do little to alter the constraints of the process They continue to produce papers because it is their job they value doing it and it is their major means of influencing policy In so doing they make a unique though indirect contribution to policy making Drawing on eighteen months of observation and participation in the work of the policy office of the U S Department of Energy the author fully investigates the conditions that create the paradox and the positive as well as the negative implications of the process of information production in organizations

Calculated Choices in Policy-Making Michiel S. De Vries, 2016-07-27 This is a book about making choices based on the evaluation of alternatives The outcomes of choices are often worse than people expect This book discusses the major problems in evaluating courses of action and examines the political contexts in which decisions are made The subject matter of this book is at the crossroads of policy and research methodology How can information derived from empirical research benefit a policy maker or decision maker and how should this information be incorporated in the decision making process

Citizen-Centered Public Policy Making in Turkey Volkan Göçoğlu, Naci Karkin, 2023-08-29 This edited volume discusses direct citizen participation and public policymaking in Turkey Written by a diverse group of scholars and practitioners this book advances the field of public policy by critically examining whether and how direct citizen participation may add value to government business Structurally the book focuses on the core topics of public administration the generation of public services the design and implementation of public policies citizens and networks new business models and local perspectives Using Turkey as a case study this volume fills a gap in the literature and will appeal to researchers interested in public policy in the MENA context

Designing Public Policies Michael Howlett, 2023-12-22 The third edition of this highly regarded book provides a concise and accessible introduction to the principles and elements of policy design in contemporary governance It examines in detail the range of substantive and procedural policy instruments that together comprise the toolbox from which governments choose tools to resolve policy problems and the principles and practices that lead to their use Guiding readers through the study of the many different kinds of instruments used by governments in carrying out their tasks adapting to and altering their environments this book Considers the principles and practices behind the selection and use of specific types of Instruments in contemporary government and arrangements of policy tools esp procedural tools and policy portfolios Evaluates in detail the merits demerits and rationales for the use of specific organization regulatory financial and information based tools and the trends visible in their use Examines key issues such as policy success and failure and the role of design in it policy volatility and risk management through policy design how behavioural research can contribute to better policy designs and the micro calibrations of policies and their importance in designs and outcomes Addresses the issues not only surrounding individual tools but also concerning the evolution and development of instrument mixes their relationship to policy styles and the challenges involved in their re design as well as the distinction between design and non design Providing a comprehensive overview of this essential component of modern governance and featuring helpful definitions of key concepts and further reading this book is essential reading for all students of public policy administration and management Social Science and Policy-Making David Lee Featherman, Maris Arvids Vinovskis, 2009-12-21 How the social sciences in America were developed as a means of social reform It Can be Fixed! Roger W. Johnson, 2004 This book is a firsthand account of Johnson's attempt to make a difference the roadblocks he encountered the personal attacks he endured the truth about how your government operates and how professional management tools can help The book demonstrates time and again how the lack of good management adversely affects policy implementation across the spectrum from national defense to welfare

Building the Compensatory State Robert F. Durant, 2019-09-24 Contemporary public administration research has marginalized the importance of taking history seriously With few exceptions little recent scholarship in the field has looked longitudinally rather than cross sectionally contextually and theoretically over extended time periods at big questions in public administration One such big question involves the evolution of American administrative reform and its link since the nation's founding to American state building This book addresses this gap by analyzing administrative reform in unprecedented empirical and theoretical ways In taking a multidisciplinary approach it incorporates recent developments in cognate research fields in the humanities and social sciences that have been mostly ignored in public administration It thus challenges existing notions of the nature scope and power of the American state and with these important aspects of today's conventional wisdom in public administration Author Robert F Durant explores the administrative state in a new light as part of a compensatory state driven shaped and amplified since the nation's founding by a corporate social science nexus of interests Arguing that this nexus of interests has contributed to citizen estrangement in the United States he offers a broad empirical and theoretical understanding of the political economy of administrative reform its role in state building and its often paradoxical results Offering a reconsideration of conventional wisdom in public administration this book is required reading for all students scholars or practitioners of public administration public policy and politics Public Sector Innovation in Southern Africa Costa Hofisi, Lewis Edwin Chigova, 2025-09-11 This timely and thought provoking book argues that public sector innovation ameliorates many societal challenges in Southern Africa demonstrating how innovative practices are already improving service delivery and addressing governance gaps Bringing together a diverse range of scholars this book's chapters provide insights into the challenges and opportunities shaping innovation in the public sector. The book highlights the emergence of a new public administration paradigm grounded in theory innovation in public administration. Through theoretical reflections and case studies from Zimbabwe and South Africa, the chapter authors navigate institutional, technological, and socio-political issues undergirding public sector innovation. The contributors provide perspectives on public governance, examining innovations such as policy innovation labs, smart cities, 4IR e-procurement, and how technology adoption closes the digital divide and affects citizens' sense of gain. The book further discusses the institutionalisation of innovation and transitioning to innovation for change, concluding by reflecting on public sector innovation in the future of Southern Africa. The insights shared serve as an essential resource for policymakers, researchers across fields of public administration, political economy, and African studies, and development practitioners committed to reimagining governance and advancing public sector transformation in Southern Africa.
