From Greenwich Village to Taos Flannery Burke,2016-01-22 They all came to Taos Georgia O Keefe D H Lawrence Carl Van Vechten and other expatriates of New York City Fleeing urban ugliness they moved west between 1917 and 1929 to join the community that art patron Mabel Dodge created in her Taos salon and to draw inspiration from New Mexico s mountain desert and primitive peoples As they settled their quest for the primitive forged a link between authentic places and those who called them home In this first book to consider Dodge and her visitors from a New Mexican perspective Flannery Burke shows how these cultural mavens drew on modernist concepts of primitivism to construct their personal visions and cultural agendas In each chapter she presents a place as it took shape for a different individual within Dodge's orbit From this kaleidoscope of places emerges a vision of what place meant to modernist artists as well as a narrative of what happened in the real place of New Mexico when visitors decided it was where they belonged Expanding the picture of early American modernism beyond New York's dominance she shows that these newcomers believed Taos was the place they had set out to find and that when Taos failed to meet their expectations they changed Taos Throughout Burke examines the ways notions of primitivism unfolded as Dodge's salon attracted artists of varying ethnicities and the ways that patronage was perceived by African American writers seeking publication Anglos seeking authentic material Native American artists seeking patronage or Nuevomexicanos simply seeking respect She considers the notion of competitive primitivism especially regarding Carl Van Vechten and offers nuanced analyses of divisions within northern New Mexico's arts communities over land issues and of the ways in which Pueblo Indians spoke on their own behalf Burke's book offers a portrait of a place as it took shape both aesthetically in the imaginations of Dodge's visitors and materially in the lives of everyday New Mexicans It clearly shows that no people or places stand outside the modern world and that when we pretend otherwise those people and places inevitably suffer    Una and Robin Mabel Dodge Luhan, 1976 Explores the life and marriage of Robinson Jeffers poet of the central California coast and icon of the environmental movement    Modernist Visions in Taos Katja Fauth, 2009

Intimate Memories, Volume Two Mabel Dodge Luhan, 2015-12-31 This second volume in 1935 of four of Intimate Memories details events in Mabel Dodge Luhan's married life and then her experiences in France and Italy and her many colorful and sometimes sad acquaintances until she finally seemingly tired of Europe returns to the United States remarking in the last page however that it is ugly in America In this book in what applies to all four volumes in her memoirs she arrests the reader with a frankness completely unique to Luhan Revealing many personal accounts in her foreword she says What a delicacy one needs to tell a story and at the same time not to tell it And then she says I hope I may be forgiven when I fail Surely she did not As salon hostess writer and muse she published her four volumes and 1 600 pages of intimate memories all during the 1930s In vivid and compelling prose she explored the momentous changes in sexuality politics art and culture that moved Americans from the Victorian into the modern age Noted for assembling and inspiring some of the leading creative men and women of her day Gertrude Stein John Reed and D H Lawrence among them she was a mover and shaker of national and international renown during her lifetime Born in 1879 to a wealthy Buffalo family Mabel Dodge Luhan earned fame for her friendships with American and European artists writers and intellectuals and for her influential salons held in her Italian villa and Greenwich Village apartments In 1917 weary of society and wary of a world steeped in war she set down roots in remote Taos New Mexico then publicized the tiny town's inspirational beauty to the world drawing a steady stream of significant guests to her adobe estate including artist Georgia O Keeffe poet Robinson Jeffers and authors D H Lawrence and Willa Cather Luhan could be difficult complex and often cruel yet she was also generous and supportive establishing a solid reputation as a patron of the arts and as an author of widely read autobiographies She died in Taos in 1962
