Capturing Digital Media Thomas J. Connelly, 2019-04-18 Why are filmmakers such as J J Abrams Christopher Nolan and Quentin Tarantino continuing to shoot their movies on celluloid in the digital age of cinema Are these filmmakers choosing the photochemical process of celluloid images purely for aesthetics purposes Or could their preference for celluloid have something to do with analogue s intimate connection to the subject of lack and desire Capturing Digital Media Perfection and Imperfection in Contemporary Film and Television examines the relationship between the perfection of the digital form and the imperfection of the human subject in recent film and television Using a number of key psychoanalytic terms and new media concepts Capturing Digital Media shows that the necessity of imperfection is where we locate the human subject of desire within the binary logic of the digital It argues that the perfection of digital must be wounded by forms of imperfection in order to make media texts such as film and television desirable But even as films and television texts incorporate forms of imperfection digital perfection remains a powerful attraction in our engagement with moving images such as high definition screens spectacular digital effects and state of the art sound

Vampires from Another World Simon Bacon, 2021-06-04 This book begins at the intersection of Dracula and War of the Worlds both published in 1897 London and describes the settings of Transylvania Mars and London as worlds linked by the body of the vampire It explores the vampire from another world in all its various forms as a manifestation of not just our anxieties around alien others but also our alien selves Unsurprisingly many of the tropes these novels generated and particularly the themes they have in common have been used and adapted by vampire narratives that followed From Nosferatu to Alien Interstellar Stranger Things and many others this book examines how these narratives have evolved since the end of the nineteenth century Bringing together texts and films from across the 19th 20th and 21st centuries from the far reaches of outer space and the distant future it concludes that the unexpected and the unknown are not always to be feared and that humanity does have the power to write its own future
