Organising Labour In Globalising Asia:

Organising Labour in Globalising Asia Jane Hutchison, Andrew Brown, 2001 This book offers wide ranging insights into the organising capacities of workers in Asia today. Nine case studies examine workers responses to class relations through independent unions, non government organisations, NGOs and more. Disorganised struggles Countering the notion that globalisation holds entirely negative consequences for labour organisation the authors reveal some of the openings for local activism which can arise from transnational production arrangements. The volume covers the second tier industrializers China, Thailand, Malaysia, the Philippines, Indonesia, India and Bangladesh. Interdisciplinary in nature it will be of great interest to students and scholars of Asian studies, development studies and international labour studies.

The New Political Economy of Southeast Asia Rajah Rasiah, Johannes Dragsbaek Schmidt, 2010-01-01 This well researched book examines the dramatic transformation of Southeast Asian countries from agricultural and mining economies to industrial nations. In doing so it explores the effects of development policy on a number of interdisciplinary issues and the emergence of new social and political pressures created by industrialization. These include their heightened vulnerability to complex economic crises, their use of sophisticated instruments in the labour process and increased awareness of environmental issues. The distinguished authors present a regional and cross border focus on transnational actors and institutions and the policy issues and problems which have a wider impact on spatial configurations in the region. This insightful study will appeal to researchers, academics and policymakers working on the economics and development of Southeast Asia.

Reassessing the Employment Relationship Edmund Heery, Peter Turnbull, 2010-11-10 Reassessing the Employment Relationship is an edited volume written by leading academics at Cardiff Business School. Reflecting on the employment relationship as one of the central institutions of advanced capitalist economies it provides an extensive survey of the changing world of work. The book offers a multi disciplinary analysis of the contemporary workplace and focuses on the key influences that are shaping the employment relationship: globalization, financialization, regulation and the search for ethical standards in human resource management. There is an insightful and authoritative treatment of some of the main developments in the employment relationship such as the rise of knowledge and customer service work, increasing income inequality, new forms of management control over work, the spread of non union industrial relations and the rise to prominence of work life integration. Reassessing the Employment Relationship provides a critical yet accessible look at the changing employment relationship and is an indispensable aid to students studying Industrial Relations, Human Resource Management, Organizational Studies and Business Ethics. PAUL BLYTON is Professor of Industrial Relations and Industrial Sociology at Cardiff University UK. EDMUND HEERY is Professor of Employment Relations at Cardiff University UK. PETER TURNBULL is Professor of Human Resource Management and Labour Relations at Cardiff University UK.

Labor, Class Formation, and China's Informationized Policy of Economic Development Yu Hong, 2011-03-31 In Labor Class Formation and China's Informationized Policy of Economic Development Yu Hong examines crucial connections between the evolving political economy of information and communications technology ICT and the reconstitution of class relations in China Situating China's ICT development over the last thirty years at the intersection of transnational trends domestic policies and institutional arrangements Hong shows how evolving class relations in the ICT sector are shaped by and shaping the transnational capitalist dynamics and domestic socio economic transformations She goes on to argue that the huge and still expanding pool of Chinese ICT workers and their newly attained identities as wage labor rather than consumers constitute a missing but important dimension of human experiences of the rise of the information society Culture and Privilege in Capitalist Asia Michael Pinches,2005-06-23 The Asian financial crisis has distracted attention from the realities of a growing affluent class in Asia this latest volume in the New Rich in Asia series the authors examine the cultural reconfiguration consumer behaviour economic success and cultural status of the new rich Case studies from Indonesia Singapore Malaysia Thailand the Philippines India and China paint a picture of the real significance of the affluent classes and their effect on national ethnic and religious restructuring

Border Capitalism, Disrupted Stephen Campbell,2018-04-15 Border Capitalism Disrupted presents an insightful ethnography of migrant labor regulation at the Mae Sot Special Border Economic Zone on the Myanmar border in northwest Thailand By bringing a new deployment of workerist and autonomist theory to bear on his fieldwork Stephen Campbell highlights the ways in which workers struggles have catalyzed transformations in labor regulation at the frontiers of capital in the global south Looking outwards from Mae Sot Campbell engages extant scholarship on flexibilization and precarious labor which typically is based on the development experiences of the global north Campbell emphasizes the everyday practices of migrants the police employers NGOs and private passport brokers to understand the politics of precarity and the new forms of worker organization and resistance that are emerging in Asian industrial zones Focusing in particular on the uses and effects of borders as technologies of rule Campbell argues that geographies of labor regulation can be read as the contested and fragile outcomes of prior and ongoing working class struggles Border Capitalism Disrupted concludes that with the weakened influence of formal unions understanding the role of these alternative forms of working class organizations in labor capital relations becomes critical With a broad data set gleaned from almost two years of fieldwork Border Capitalism Disrupted will appeal directly to those in anthropology labor studies political economy and geography as well as Southeast Asian studies Labour in the Global South International Labour Office,2012 Labour in the global South is an exciting contribution to the new field of global labour studies It identifies in ten clearly written chapters the innovative and creative responses to the challenges facing labour worldwide Edward Webster University of Kassel Germany and University of the Witwatersrand South Africa Asian Journal of Social Science ,2003 Asian and Pacific Migration Journal ,2005 State, Labour, and Development K.K.
