Social Policy and Social Dimensions on Vulnerability and Resilience in Europe Birgit Bülow, María Luisa Gómez Jiménez, 2015-05-04 There are two tendencies in present public discussions Social problems have their causes in the individual and are thus not a problem of socio economic inequality Consequently we find an increasing policy in Europe of selfactivation and self help as substitutes of social work On the other hand new types of social vulnerability and challenges for social work and social policy are detected which are discussed in the book in their European dimensions Beginning in the last century in Europe processes of social exclusion are discussed as common phenomena of the crisis in social welfare systems They have their origins in the radical changes in paid employment the weakening of family ties and the increasing incapability of the welfare state to promote social inclusion New types of social vulnerabilities are emerging containing chances as well as risks They are discussed in two ways On the one hand the implementation of indicator based management systems of social services is attempted which implies a range of chances and risks in ethical and professional self image On the other hand there are self help movements social networks and other social types of resilience which are often a complement or support to Social Work Yet there is a policy to substitute Social Work by a strategy of self activation Both developments are signs of the present and indicators of the future of Social Work They show the necessity of clarifying the social and political scopes and prospects of Social Work in societies at the crossroads of enhancing civility human development and social security or overburden the vulnerable who face new dimensions of psychological ecological and economic distress This book is an attempt to bring together several European discussions concerning Social Work and social politics

State Change Jochen Clasen,Nico A. Siegel,2007 Studies from thematic seminar held in May 2005 at the University of Stirling and then from a panel organized at the 2005 ESPAnet European Social Policy Analysis network conference in Fribourg Switzerland with the addition of results and subsequent discussions on the subject (Social) Democracy in the Blood? Carly Elizabeth Schall,2008 Poverty, Urbanity and Social Policy Jolanta Aldukaite,2009 The aim of this book is to provide the reader with the broad spectrum of poverty and social policy issues in Central and Eastern Europe and address the most urgent topics of welfare state research namely poverty children and social policy gender social policy and poverty urban policy renewal and poverty and overall challenges to social policy reform The book demonstrates that despite an increase in poverty and inequalities in many Central and Eastern European countries during the last 18 years the social policy systems have not experienced a radical dismantlement throughout the entire region The post Communist welfare state still shows more comprehensive solutions to social problems than residual ones Nevertheless the deteriorated fiscal capacities of the state in some cases hinder the successful poverty solutions as well as the expansion of the welfare programmes Yet the Central and Eastern European region is very diverse regarding the scope and depth of social problems encountered and some countries have implemented more successful policy solutions than other ones Furthermore the findings of this volume demonstrate that Central and Eastern European countries are not so dramatically distinct from Western Europe neither in their social problems encountered nor in their solutions Nevertheless the experience of the socialist regime the relatively lower wages and lower social benefits as well as the higher share of GDP produced in a shadow economy allow the CEE countries to group into the distinct post Communist regime Scandinavica Elias Bredsdorff,2005
