Making Forest Policy Work:

Making Forest Policy Work A.I. Fraser, 2013-04-17 Policy issues relating to forestry have been the subject of much debate in recent years and many countries and international agencies have recently or are currently in the process of revising their policies for forestry. Much of this debate has implied that previous policies have failed or been much less successful than had been hoped. There is a tendency to think of policy as a matter for governments but it is now more widely appreciated that all shareholders in the forestry sector have a legitimate interest in both the policy objectives and the means that will be used to implement it. This book is mainly concerned with the process of developing policy and the subsequent implementation than in specific content though many of the important issues which policies must address are discussed. It is based on a review of many case studies with which the author has been personally involved over the past 40 years.

Making forest concessions in the tropics work to achieve the 2030 Agenda Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-07-30 The specific objective of these Voluntary Guidelines is to promote the sustainable management of public production natural forests in tropical countries through forest concessions thereby fulfilling their potential contribution to the achievement of Agenda 2030. Forest concession regimes are treated here as forest policy instruments and should be aligned with the sustainable forest management objectives agreed by countries in the UNFF. The current Guidelines intend to serve as guidance for making forest concessions an effective economic instrument of forest policy in the context of the 2030 Agenda transforming them into an instrument capable of delivering sustainable forest management in all its dimensions and generating socio economic benefits to relevant stakeholders.
