

The background of the cover is a composite image. At the top, a large, orange, skeletal structure resembling a space station or a large aircraft is set against a dark blue sky with wispy clouds. Below this, a bright yellow comet with a long tail streaks across the dark sky. In the bottom right corner, a small, detailed image of the Moon is visible. The bottom half of the cover shows a view of Earth from space, with a blue horizon and white clouds. Overlaid on this view are several faint, white wireframe models of various aerospace structures, including what looks like a space station and a launch vehicle. The title text is centered in the middle of the cover.

National Aerospace Programs:

ASEAN Space Programs Quentin Verspieren, Maximilien Berthet, Giulio Coral, Shinichi Nakasuka, Hideaki Shiroshima, 2022-01-12 This book presents the first ever comprehensive analysis of ASEAN space development programs. Written by prominent actors in the region it goes beyond a mere exposé of the history, current status and future plans of ASEAN space technology development and utilization programs by analyzing the conditions in which a space program can be initiated in the region. It does so in two ways: on the one hand it questions the relevance of and motivations behind the inception of space development programs in developing countries and on the other hand it focuses on the very specific context of ASEAN, a highly disaster-prone area shaped by unique political alliances with a distinctive geopolitical ecosystem and enormous economic potential etc. Last but not least, after having analyzed established and emerging space programs in the region it provides concrete recommendations for any regional or extra-regional developing nation eager to gain a foothold in space. As such, this book offers a valuable resource for researchers and engineers in the field of space technology as well as for space agencies and government policymakers. National Aerospace Programs, 1972. Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports, 1987. Advancing the state of aviation safety is a central mission of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. NASA Congress requested this review of NASA's aviation safety-related research programs seeking an assessment of whether the programs have well-defined, prioritized and appropriate research objectives; whether resources have been allocated appropriately among these objectives; whether the programs are well-coordinated with the safety research programs of the Federal Aviation Administration; and whether suitable mechanisms are in place for transitioning the research results into operational technologies and procedures and certification activities in a timely manner. Advancing Aeronautical Safety contains findings and recommendations with respect to each of the main aspects of the review sought by Congress. These findings indicate that NASA's aeronautics research enterprise has made and continues to make valuable contributions to aviation system safety but it is falling short and needs improvement in some key respects. An Aerospace Bibliography Air University (U.S.).
