Scottish National Portrait Gallery, John M. Gray, 1890    Statesmen in Caricature N. G.

Howe, 2019-02-21 The years 1780 to 1820 have long been seen as the Golden Age of the English satirical print. This period witnessed a number of changes in style which had far reaching consequences including an increase in the effectiveness of the caricature as visual propaganda. William Pitt the Younger and Charles James Fox were the leading politicians of the age continuing a family rivalry begun by their fathers. They were amongst the most caricatured men of their time and became emblems of the two sides of the political debate whilst gathering personal followings based upon personality rather than filial or political patronage. Fox and Pitt the Younger came to represent a more modern notion of the party leader in an age before formalized political parties and structures. Neil Howe here shows how stock images came to the fore and examines the central role they played within the visual representation of politicians during the late eighteenth century. His book also chronicles how the biggest political rivalry of the age played out within contemporary caricature from the emergence of Fox and Pitt as big political beasts in the wake of the American Revolution through the East India Bill Crisis, Regency Crisis and French Revolution to the death of both men in 1806.

The Face of Britain Simon Schama, 2016-08-16 Author of a number of celebrated works including the bestselling The Story of the Jews and Citizens: A Chronicle of the French Revolution Simon Schama's latest book fuses history and art to create a tour de force of narrative sweep and illuminating insight. Using images from works, paintings, photographs, lithographs, etchings, sketches found in London's National Portrait Gallery, The Face of Britain weaves together an account of their composition framed by their particular moment of creation and in the process unveils a collective portrait of nation and its history. Portraits Schama writes have always been made with an eye to posterity. Commissioned to paint Winston Churchill in 1954 Graham Sutherland struggled with how to capture the savior of Great Britain honestly and humanely. Schama calls the portrait initially damned the most powerful image of a Great Briton ever executed. Annie Leibovitz's photograph of a nude John Lennon kissing Yoko Ono taken five hours before his murder bears a weight of poignancy she could not possibly have anticipated. Hans Holbein's preparatory sketch for a portrait of Henry VIII depicts an unstoppable engine of dynastic generation. Here are expressions from across the centuries of normalcy and heroism, beauty and disfigurement, aristocracy and deprivation, the familiar and the obscure, the faces of courtesans, warriors, workers, activists, playwrights, the high and mighty as well as pub crawlers. Linking them is Schama's vibrant exploration of how their connective power emerges from the dynamic between subject and artist work and viewer time and place Schama s compelling analysis and impassioned evocation of these works create an unforgettable verbal mosaic that at once reveals and transforms the images he places before us Lavishly illustrated and written with the storytelling brio that is Schama s trademark The Face of Britain invites us to look at a nation s visual legacies and find its reflection
