Women's Bureau, 1979 Mediation in Contemporary Native American Fiction James Ruppert, 1995 Mediation is the term James Ruppert uses to describe his important new theory of reading Native American fiction Focusing on novels of six major contemporary American writers N Scott Momaday James Welch Leslie Silko Gerald Vizenor D Arcy McNickle and Louise Erdrich Ruppert analyzes the ways in which these writers draw upon their bicultural heritage guiding Native and non Native readers alike to a different and expanded understanding of each other s worlds While Native American writers may criticize white society revealing its past and present injustices their emphasis Ruppert argues is on healing survival and continuance Their fiction aims to produce cross cultural understanding rather than divisiveness To that end they articulate the perspectives and values of competing world views In particular they create characters who manifest what Ruppert calls multiple identities determined by both Native and non Native perceptions of the self These writers use a variety of narrative techniques deriving from different cultural traditions They might incorporate Native oral storytelling techniques adapting them to written form or they might reconstruct Native mythologies investing them with new meaning and relevance by applying them to contemporary situations As novel writers they also include features more characteristic of western European writing such as the omniscient narrator or the detective story plot Contemporary Native American Political Issues Troy R. Fixico,2024-09-27 Now in its second edition The American Indian Mind in a Linear World examines the persistence of Native peoples in retaining their own worldviews from the pre Columbian era into the twenty first century The book explores the ways in which Indian people who are close to their cultural traditions think in a circular fashion understand by relying on visual analysis and make decisions from an Indigenous logic Yet Comanches have a different reality from Mohawks Apache ethos is not like that of the Lakotas and Indian men and women see things differently How and why is the Native mind different from the western world Why have white teachers and missionaries tried to change the minds of Native students The Indian perspective is not wrong it is simply different and inclusive another way of looking at the world and universe This edition updates the discussion with a new chapter on contemporary American Indian intellectualism and further analysis of the preservation of Indigenous traditional knowledge Approachable and engaging this volume is a key resource for students and scholars of Native American and Indigenous studies and Indigenous history The Native American ,1918
