A Dangerous Idea Peter Metcalfe,2014-11-15 Decades before the marches and victories of the 1960s a group of Alaska Natives were making civil rights history Throughout the early twentieth century the Alaska Native Brotherhood fought for citizenship voting rights and education for all Alaska Natives securing unheard of victories in a contentious time Their unified work and legal prowess propelled the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act one of the biggest claim settlements in United States history A Dangerous Idea tells an overlooked but powerful story of Alaska Natives fighting for their rights under American law and details one of the rare successes for Native Americans in their nearly two hundred year effort to define and protect their rights

Native Brotherhoods Philip Drucker,2015-07-03 Excerpt from Native Brotherhoods Modern Intertribal Organizations on the Northwest Coast The fieldwork on which this study is based was carried out in two parts In the fall of 1952 I spent over 2 months in southeast Alaska during which time I visited a number of Indian communities and thanks to the courtesy of the officers of the Alaska Native Brotherhood I was privileged to attend in the role of observer its Annual Convention at Hoonah November 10 to 15 This season of the fieldwork was supported by the Smithsonian Institution In the fall of 1953 and in February and March 1954 I visited British Columbia to collect information on the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia This work was made possible by a grant from the Arctic Institute of North America In December 1953 and January 1954 I returned to south east Alaska to recheck certain data and fill in some areas that I had not covered adequately the first season This phase of the work which enabled me to round out my information and which obviated a third trip to the coast was made possibly by a grant from the American Philosophical Society A supplementary grant from the Smithsonian Institution enabled me to spend an additional month in British Columbia In addition to owing a debt of gratitude to the foregoing organization for their support of my project I am also under obligation to a great many Alaskans and British Columbians who took considerable pains to see that I was able to learn about the organizations which formed the focal point of my study and about related matters bearing on the acculturational situation on the coast A list of all these people would be excessively long so I take this opportunity to express my thanks here to all who assisted me There were a number of people who made particularly great contributions of time and effort and to whom I feel especially obligated these include Mr William Paul Sr and Mr Cyril Zuboff at Juneau Mr Harry Douglas of Hoonah Mr Sam Johnson Mr Patrick Paul and Mr Joe Kahklen at Angoon Mr Joe C Williams of Saxman Mr Frank G Johnson of Kake Mr Frank Peratrovich and Mr Alfred Widmark of Klawock In British Columbia I was especially obligated to Mr William D Scow and Mr Charles Nowell of
