Loves Hidden Symmetry What Makes Love Work In Relationships:

Love's Hidden Symmetry Bert Hellinger, Gunthard Weber, Hunter Beaumont, 1998 The Theory and Practice of Relational Coaching Simon Cavicchia, Maria Gilbert, 2018-07-27 The relational turn is a movement affecting a range of disciplines including neuroscience psychoanalysis psychotherapy organisational consulting and more recently coaching. Its primary focus is on the centrality of human relating in determining how individuals develop make meaning and function individually and collectively. In The Theory and Practice of Relational Coaching Complexity Paradox and Integration Simon Cavicchia and Maria Gilbert expand existing coaching theory and practice to focus on the implications of the relational turn for how coaches and clients think about the nature of identity the self change learning and individual and organisational development. Drawing on perspectives as varied as relational neuroscience the relational foundations of personality development psychoanalysis psychotherapy shame vulnerability complexity and systems ideas the authors shed light on many of the paradoxes and challenges facing coaches and their clients in today's fast paced volatile and uncertain organisational environments. These include holding tensions such as the uniqueness of individual needs with the requirements of organisational contexts managing multiple stakeholder expectations and networks and balancing linear approaches to change with adjusting to emerging and unpredictable events. Given the ever increasing volatility complexity and uncertainty that coaches and their clients face The Theory and Practice of Relational Coaching guides the reader through a series of illuminating perspectives examples and practical suggestions. These will enable coaches to integrate a more relational orientation in their work and extend their range and that of their clients for responding creatively to the challenges of modern organisational life. The book will appeal to coaches and coaching psychologists in practice and training as well as counsellors and psychotherapists retraining as coaches
