Order History Volume 3 Plato Aristotle:

The Politics of the Soul Glenn Hughes, 1999 The Politics of the Soul Eric Voegelin on Religious Experience includes eight essays examining one of the most profound studies of religious experience to appear in the last century that of the political philosopher Eric Voegelin Voegelin is increasingly recognized as a political theorist of exceptional scope and erudition and the most important philosopher of his time since Toynbee and his treatment of religious experience is a crucial part of his overall analysis of existence and history This collection of essays by prominent Voegelin scholars is the first book to explore the relevance of that analysis to the contemporary understanding of political theory theology history and philosophy of consciousness and as such it constitutes a significant contribution not only to Voegelin scholarship but to the current quest for theoretical foundations

Messianic Political Theology and Diaspora Ethics P. Travis Kroecker, 2017-11-09 Political theology as a normative discourse has been controversial not only for secular political philosophers who are especially suspicious of messianic claims but also for Jewish and Christian thinkers who differ widely on its meaning These essays mount an argument for a Messianic Political Theology rooted in an interpretation of biblical especially Pauline Augustinian and Radical Reformation readings of messianism as a thoroughly political and theological vision that gives rise to what the author calls Diaspora Ethics In conversation also with Platonic Jewish and Continental thinkers Kroecker argues for an exilic practice of political ethics in which the secular is built up theologically from below in the form of public service that flows from messianic political worship Such a weak messianic power practiced by the messianic body inhabits an apocalyptic political economy in which the mystery of love and the mystery of evil are agonistically unveiled together in the power of the cross not as an instrument of domination but in the form of the servant This is not simply a matter of pacifism but of a messianic posture rooted in the renunciation of possessive desire that pertains to all aspects of everyday human life in the household oikos the academy and the polis

Subjectivity Steven F. McGuire, R. J. Snell, 2016-03-04 In Subjectivity sixteen leading scholars examine the turn to the subject in modern philosophy and consider its historical antecedents in ancient and medieval thought Some critics of modernity reject the turn to the subject as a specifically modern error arguing that it logically leads to nihilism and moral relativism by divorcing the human mind from objective reality Yet some important thinkers of the last half century including Leo Strauss Eric Voegelin John Finnis and Bernard Lonergan consider a subjective starting point and claim to find a similar position in ancient and medieval thought If correct their positions suggest that one can adopt the subjective turn and remain true to the tradition This is a timely question The common good of our polity encounters a situation in which many believe that there is no objective reality to which human minds and wills ought to conform a conclusion that suggests we can define and construct reality In light of this the notion of a natural or objective reality to which human beings ought to conform becomes particularly vital Should we then adopt the modern turn to subjectivity and argue for objective truth and moral order on its basis or reject the subjective turn as part of the problem and return to an earlier approach that grounds these things in nature or some other external reality Critics of modern subjectivity argue that the modern turn to subjectivity must be abandoned because it is the very source of the nominalism that threatens to undermine liberal democracy Others argue however that subjectivity itself logically leads to the recognition of an objective reality beyond the mind of the individual Edited by R J Snell and Steven F McGuire this collection will be of particular interest to intellectual historians political philosophers theologians and philosophers
