Word Order and Information Structure in Makhuwa-Enahara Jenneke Van der Wal, 2009 This thesis investigates the grammar of Makhuwa Enahara a Bantu language spoken in the north of Mozambique The information structure is an influential factor in this language determining the word order and the use of special conjugations known as conjoint and disjoint verb forms The thesis consists of two parts The first part is a grammatical description of the language covering the basic properties in the phonology prosody and morphology of the nominal and verbal domain as well as an overview of the conjugational system The chapter also examines some syntactic issues such as relativisation and non verbal predication The second part is concerned with the question how syntax and information structure interact in Makhuwa Enahara The elements in a sentence are positioned before or after the verb on the basis of their information structure Elements in the preverbal domain are interpreted as more accessible functioning as topics The disjoint verb and elements in the postverbal domain form the comment The element immediately following the conjoint verb form is interpreted not just as new information but as exclusive meaning that the proposition holds for that referent and not for some other referents These data can be accounted for if insights from syntax and information structure are combined Two such approaches are discussed a cartographic model and an interface model Two interface rules are proposed to account for the interpretation of word order and the conjoint and disjoint verb forms in Makhuwa Enahara     Lexikon Der Sprachwissenschaft Hadumod Bussmann,1996 In over 2 500 entries this Dictionary provides an exhaustive survey of the key terminology and languages of more than thirty sub disciplines of linguistics     Studies in the Linguistic Sciences ,1992     Journal of African Languages and Linguistics ,1999     Clitics and Parametrization Marco Haverkort,1993     Clause Structure and Argument Realization in Tongan Douglas L.
