Isenberg, Gloria Gerbracht, 1995-02-10 Storytelling or narrative is gaining acceptance as an important tool for professional development research and teaching. This book shows how teachers and educators can use stories of their professional experiences to reflect on their own practice, articulate values and beliefs, give shape and form to teaching theory, and better understand decision-making processes. The book offers strategies for generating sharing and using narrative and illustrates its points with many rich classroom stories. Individual chapters built around specific themes show how teachers use narrative to forge connections, learn from students, reflect upon experience, resolve conflict, develop as professionals, and enter the educational dialogue. A wealth of examples and specific suggestions show teachers at all levels, preschool through high school, how to compose and give voice to their own stories, forcing them to dig beneath the surface, think more deeply about teaching and learning, and become truly reflective practitioners. The Teachers' Guide, 1930 Herald of Gospel Liberty Elias Smith, 1913 The Intelligence, 1899 New York State Education Department Bulletin, 1918 University of the State of New York Bulletin, 1919 An Annotated, Classified and Graded List of Books Suitable for Use in Elementary School Libraries ... New York State University.
