Orchid Hunters Wilson Wall, 2025-11-18 The pinnacle of orchid hunting activity was in the nineteenth century when prices for individual plants reached astonishing levels Such were the profits to be made that many of the most active orchid hunters were directly employed by orchid nurseries in Britain and Europe These were not the aristocratic administrators of empire they were trained gardeners and horticulturalists who had a yearning to travel and see for themselves where the plants they nurtured had come from In this book we explore the activities of these orchid hunters through the years from the eighteenth century right into the twenty first century when the camera replaced the axe and spade Many of these stories are rarely told in the context of the society that demanded ever bigger and more flamboyant orchids Some were collected and the sites they had come from forgotten Some were so valuable that the sites were kept secret or misleading information given about their origin even the wrong country being suggested for some Orchid hunting was not always safe and some collectors never came home Of those that did return contemporary documents suggest that some of the stories they came back with enhanced the value of their plants but were not always entirely accurate in their details Using original documents as source material for the first time tales of orchids lost and found as well as those that sought them are told in their entirety Kew Book of Painting Orchids in Watercolour Cawson,2020 Extraordinary Orchids Sandra Knapp,2021-04-02 First published in 2021 by the Natural History Museum London Title page verso The Orchid Review ,1987 Catalogue of the library of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society Massachusetts Horticultural Society,1918 Catalogue Bernard Quaritch (Firm),1896 American Orchid Society Bulletin American Orchid Society,1991 Curtis's Botanical Magazine Sir William Jackson Hooker,1895 Australian Orchid Review ,2007 Journal of Horticulture and Practical Gardening ,1886 Orchid Biology: Reviews and Perspectives X Tiiu Kull,J.
