Organic Futures:

Organic Futures Connor J. Fitzmaurice, Brian Gareau, 2016-10-25 An exploration of the lived experience of small scale organic farmers in New England that unpacks how they balance their ideals with economic realities In recent years the popularity of organically grown produce has exploded In 2014 organic fruits and vegetables accounted for 12% of all produce sales in the United States with 39 billion in consumer sales reported for 2015 As a federally recognized niche market within the agricultural mainstream organic farming is increasingly on display in American grocery stores Yet the organic food most Americans consume today is produced by an industrial food system at odds with the practices and ideals of small scale farmers Taking an ethnographic approach the fieldwork by Connor Fitzmaurice and Brian Gareau at a small New England organic farm sheds light on how farmers navigate the difficult terrain between practices of sustainability and the economic realities of contemporary agriculture Drawing on extensive research Fitzmaurice and Gareau examine the historical context complexities and viability of nonconventional organic farming practices practices that seek to balance ecology and community with the business of agriculture

Organic Futures Adrian Myers, 2005 Exploring the history politics and practicalities of organic farming Adrian Myers shows how the current techniques of agriculture and horticulture based on chemical fertilizers which inevitably bring about the deterioration of soil life cannot provide a long term sustainable future for humankind

Cosmos, Earth and Nutrition Richard Thornton Smith, 2009 The author describes the foundations on which not only biodynamics but also the wider organic movement is based He builds bridges between mainstream science and Steiner's insights making it easier for the wider organic and ecological movement to approach biodynamic concepts and practise This book has much to offer to the beginner as well as to those already involved with biodynamics Its broad range of topics including the ecology of the farm organism food quality and nutrition community supported agriculture planetary influences seed quality and the vitality of water contribute to a deeper understanding of the subject
