The Fastest Bicycle Rider in the World Marshall W. Major Taylor, 2023-03-07 The true story of Marshall Major Taylor who overcame racial prejudice to become one of the most dominant cyclists in history. Part of the Belt's Revival series and with an introduction by Zito Madu. The Fastest Bicycle Rider in the World which Taylor self-published in 1928 gives a riveting first-person account of his rise to the highest echelons of professional cycling. Born in Indianapolis, he eventually became the first African American cycling world champion, going on to set seven world records in the sport. Readers will learn about Taylor's exploits as an athlete, including his early taste of success in a grueling six-day race, his unparalleled dominance as a sprinter, and some of his most bitter defeats. But the man who achieved international fame as the Black Cyclone also details the extreme prejudice he faced both on and off the track. It's a story about one of the greatest athletes in American history but also a moving testament to Taylor's resilience and determination in the face of overt racism and seemingly impossible odds. As he tells us himself, I am writing my memoirs in the spirit calculated to solicit simple justice, equal rights, and a square deal for the posterity of my down-trodden but brave people not only in athletic games and sports but in every honorable game of human endeavor.

Major Taylor Andrew Ritchie, 2017-08-03 Updated trade paperback edition of previously released 2nd edition of same title. A well-researched and vivid account of the life and times of one of the first internationally acclaimed black athletes. Major Taylor, who was billed as the fastest bicycle rider in the world around the turn of the 20th century. Touches on his struggles in America as a black athlete and his recognition abroad. Illustrated throughout with period photographs.

Major Todd Balf, 2009-01-27 The story of a man who transcended the handicaps of race to become America's first African American mega sports celebrity. At the turn of the 20th century, hundreds of lightning-fast racers won the hearts and minds of a bicycling-crazed public. Scientists studied them, newspapers glorified them, and millions of dollars in purse money were awarded to them. Major Taylor aimed to be the fastest of them all. Taylor's most formidable and ruthless opponent, a man nicknamed the Human Engine, was Floyd McFarland. One man was white, one black; one from a storied Virginia family, the other descended from Kentucky slaves. One was celebrated as a hero, one trying to secure his spot in a sport he dominated. The only thing they had in common was the desire to be named the fastest man alive. Finally, in 1904, both men headed to Australia for a much-anticipated title match to decide who would claim the coveted title. Major is the story of a superstar nobody saw coming, the account of a fierce rivalry that would become an archetypal tale of white versus black in the 20th century, and most of all, the tale of our nation's first black
