Women and the Criminal Justice System Katherine S. Van Wormer, Clemens Bartollas, 2007 This text examines the various roles of women in the criminal justice system against a social context in which women are oppressed The text examines the following three roles of women in criminal justice Women as victims of crimes Women as criminals convicted and sentenced for crimes Women as workers in various agencies in the criminal justice system This text emphasizes content on gender and ethnic diversity and on the strengths of oppressed people especially women of color A wide range of issues are covered including the rate of early childhood sexual abuse victimization in female inmates priest abuse of girls female inmate rape by male prison guard and obstacles for women lawyers achieving partnerships in their firms The authors provide a wealth of recent data drawn from both domestic and international human rights sources as well as from personal interviews The final portion of the text describes women's setbacks in entering the traditionally male dominated fields of policing the law and corrections if people are given half a chance they can draw on their own resources to heal from the past and build for the future This empowerment approach is already prominent in the social work field and widely used in victim treatment programs for working with female offenders

Andrews, 1915 Edited by R H Andrews Mandated Health Care Donald L. Westerfield, 1991-04-30 As medical insurance costs continue to increase so do the numbers of Americans who carry no health insurance This situation exacerbated by federal budgetary pressures has stepped up the conflict among all those who have a stake in health benefits the government employers insurers health providers and citizens who need affordable health care Westerfield examines the dilemmas behind the conflict over mandated health care the strategies employed and the costs both social and economic that must ultimately be borne In Part I the author looks at the impact of existing health care legislation and the vigorously debated issues surrounding the allocation of benefits to specific groups or for specific needs Part II focuses on the conflicting goals of those who must pay for health care those who provide it and those who receive it The final part begins by addressing major areas of health care such as AIDS chemical dependency child care and mental health care Describing the strategies and counterstrategies in the struggle over benefits and costs the author stresses that it is those most in need the underclass and the underemployed who are in danger of becoming the ultimate losers in the battle This book clarifies and brings a constructive perspective to bear on an issue of concern to a large professional audience as well as to special interest groups representing health care consumers American Druggist and Pharmaceutical Record, 1918

Embracing the Song of Phrase: An Psychological Symphony within Making Mandated Addiction Treatment Work

In some sort of consumed by screens and the ceaseless chatter of instantaneous conversation, the melodic splendor and mental symphony created by the published word frequently diminish in to the back ground, eclipsed by the relentless sound and disturbances that permeate our lives. However, set within the pages of Making Mandated Addiction Treatment Work a charming fictional treasure brimming with natural thoughts, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Constructed by an outstanding musician of language, this interesting masterpiece conducts viewers on a psychological journey, well unraveling the concealed melodies and profound impact resonating within each cautiously constructed phrase. Within the depths of this emotional evaluation, we will examine the book is main harmonies, analyze their enthralling writing design, and surrender ourselves to the profound resonance that echoes in the depths of readers souls.
